

POLICE LINKED WITH MELLETT CASE

COOLIDGE SENATOR TRAILS LAFOLLETTE MAN IN WISCONSIN

Blaine Lead Slight How-
ever—Progressives
Lose In State

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 8.—Senator Irvine Lenroot, Coolidge republican and senior senator from Wisconsin today was trailing governor John J. Blaine, LaFollette progressive, for the Republican senatorial nomination. Blaine's lead, however, was so slight that the outcome probably will not be known before late today.

Returns from 1356 precincts of the state's 2729 give:
Blaine 96,176.
Lenroot 92,184.

In the gubernatorial nominations, however, the LaFollette machine offered defeat. The nomination of Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, an anti-Blaine progressive, over Herman L. Ekern, attorney general and LaFollette man, seemed assured. Zimmerman from returns in 1927 precincts had a lead of about 17,000.

There were no Democratic contests for either the senator or the governorship.

Thomas M. Kearney is the only Democratic senatorial candidate and Virgil Cady is the only Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Milwaukee, Wisconsin's metropolis and always considered one of Lenroot's strongholds, gave Gov. Blaine sufficient majority to put him in the lead. This was attributed to Blaine's stand for beer and modification of the prohibition laws as against Lenroot's plank for a state referendum on prohibition. The heavy German vote of the state is in Milwaukee. Blaine had a lead of 7,000 votes in the county this morning.

Lenroot, however, picked up sizeable margins in rural counties which heretofore had been considered Blaine's certainities. In the past three weeks Lenroot has made a vigorous campaign through these sections.

The gubernatorial race found Zimmerman leading from the start. The secretary of state was an associate of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, but challenged the fight of Blaine and Ekern to control the progressive strength of the state.

The vote in the gubernatorial race this morning:

Zimmerman 96,117.
Ekern 79,154.

In the congressional races all of the progressive Republicans were successful in winning re-nomination with the exception of the seventh district where Rep. J. D. Beck apparently has been defeated by Merlin Hull, another progressive. In the fifth district now served by Rep. Victor Berger, socialist, the Republican nomination apparently has gone to William H. Stafford, progressive, who served in the lower house prior to Berger.

MOSES NOMINATED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Senator George H. Moses was re-nominated in yesterday's Republican senatorial primary by a plurality of about 17,000, returns from 261 towns and wards out of a total of 294 indicated today.

Former Gov. Robert P. Bass early today conceded the nomination of Senator Moses, whom he had opposed in the primary.

Gov. John G. Winant appeared to have lost his primary fight for re-nomination to Huntley N. Spaulding, chairman of the state board of education.

Eaton D. Sargent of Nassau was given the Democratic gubernatorial nomination without a contest.

Robert C. Murchie of Concord appeared to have been re-nominated for U. S. senator by the Democrats over Albert W. Noone of Peterboro. Only a few hundred votes were cast in the contest.

GOVERNOR LEADS IN ARIZONA CONTESTS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Governor G. W. P. Hunt, seeking re-election to a sixth term, today was leading in the contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In 162 out of 484 precincts in the state the vote was:

Hunt 5,536.
F. E. Ellinwood, retired banker, 2,810.

State Senator J. J. Cox, 2,410.
W. S. Clark, an attorney, was leading Thomas Maddock, an engineer by 550 votes for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

United States Senator Ralph Cameron was unopposed for re-nomination by Republicans.

GERMANY ADMITTED TO LEAGUE AND GETS SEAT WITH COUNCIL

Removes Last Obstacle
To Locarno Peace
Agreements

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—Germany was admitted to the League of Nations today and immediately was elevated to permanent membership on the league council. The diplomatic equilibrium of Europe and the league thereby was vastly altered.

At frequent intervals during the eight years since the close of the war Germany has been summoned before the bar of allied or other justice to explain, promise or deny. Henceforth, Germany may be expected to occupy a comfortable chair at international council tables and her representatives will speak and argue on a parity with the representatives not only of the nations which were neutral but those which opposed her during the war.

Simultaneously with its action in creating a permanent council seat for Germany, the league assembly created three new non-permanent council seats, thereby increasing the membership of the upper house of the league from ten to fourteen. There are now five permanent council seats possessed by the British empire, France, Italy, Japan and Germany. One other permanent seat is being held for the United States.

The assembly's vote admitting Germany to the league was unanimous—but six months late. The league council and the league assembly sought last March to make Germany a league member but the wrangling debate over permanent council seats prevented the desired action.

With Germany's entry into the league, Europe hoped for the beginning of a new era of tranquility for upon Germany's admission depended the consummation of the famous agreements of Locarno in which the statesmen of England, France, Italy, Poland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Germany last autumn pledged their various countries to peace and arbitration.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—The League of Nations secretariat today denied that Spain had submitted her resignation from the league of nations.

GOVERNOR DONAHEY ASKS OHIO CITIZENS TO BUY OHIO'S COAL

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 8.—An urgent, "The general prosperity buy Ohio mined coal was made today in a proclamation issued by Governor Vic Donahey.

"I call upon every man and woman in Ohio to please buy Ohio coal and buy it now," Donahey urged. "The general prosperity of our great commonwealth cannot be permanent until Ohio's coal industry is revived."

Ohio's coal industry, the governor declared, which stood second among the industries of the state a few years ago, has been relegated into a "vastly inferior po-

THIS IS ONLY "FAST AGE" FOR THOSE WHO ARE SLOW HE STATES

Address Opens Cedarville
College Wednesday
Morning

"The road to failure is strewn with the lives of bad guessers," was the declaration of Myers Y. Cooper, Republican gubernatorial candidate, who delivered the main address at opening exercises of Cedarville College, at Cedarville High School Auditorium, Wednesday morning.

"Know what you want, get the truth of that purpose and carry out your aim," he admonished the college students.

"We can't all be senators but we can be filled with the idea of doing the best we can. Education is the ability to know how to do that which has fallen to our lot to do."

"In no country in the world does the obligation of citizenship fall as heavy as it does in America," Mr. Cooper declared the fact that only slightly over fifty per cent of the country's population exercised their rights of citizenship in voting in 1924 and that only twenty per cent in Ohio voted this year.

"Citizenship is our greatest obligation," he declared. "When the hearts of the people are appealed to in the right manner, then only will there be better government. One in every twelve of the young people before me will participate in government in future years if the present ratio is maintained."

"Some business men boast that they are not interested in politics and criticize the government, but the need is for them to get interested in its functioning and see that conditions are bettered."

"It takes some crises to get the public interested in government, such a crisis as was the World War. At that period, everyone laid aside his personal interests to see that those of the government were maintained. That state of mind is needed always at all times."

"Some people who have no tax receipts labor under the delusion that they do not pay taxes, whereas the figures show that every one in the state paid $350 in taxes, on the average, last year. The cost of government is heavy, and the Ohio State government needs a business man at its helm," the speaker said, introducing statistics on state government operation."

Mr. Cooper urged the young people to be interested in government. "There is some complaint of this being the 'fast age,' an idea which I do not share,—it is just a 'fast age' for slow people. With all due respect to those who have gone before, I venture the opinion that the boys and girls of present day colleges will go on in the world and make a better record on their education than in past years, since they are better fitted for the tasks of the world."

"No great work is brought about without hard work and ceaseless toil. Don't hurry. 'Don't try to begin where your fathers ended. Begin at the bottom. Don't be easily discouraged and a quitter."

"There is more room at the top despite increased competition," he told the audience of students. "One must just know how to get there and build with the right preparation."

Approximately 600 people filled the auditorium for the address, including a number of Greene County Republicans. Invocation was pronounced by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, Presbyterian Church, Xenia. Several songs were given by the Cedarville Quartet, with Scripture reading by the Rev. S. R. Chesney, introduced Harry D. Silvers, former speaker of the House of Representatives, present deputy state auditor and manager of Mr. Cooper's gubernatorial campaign.

Mr. Silver made a short talk and introduced Mr. Cooper. The Rev. W. R. Harriman delivered the benediction.

"Never before in the history of Ohio has a great business suffered so rapid a decline," he added. "Unless checked at once the ultimate result will be complete paralysis of our entire mining system."

Nothing but the "universal patriotic purchase of Ohio coal by Ohio coal users," can prevent the ultimate extinction of Ohio mining, Donahey pointed out, and urged the purchase of the Ohio product to ward off the "virtual starvation of the unfortunate miners and their families."

RAYMONDSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Feeling ran high here today and extra precautions against further outbreaks of violence were taken following the ambush of five Mexicans and five officers near here yesterday in which five men were killed.

Twenty Mexicans were in jail today as a result of the shooting. The battle occurred when the officers accompanied Jose and Delancia Munoz, Cinco Gonzales and Matt Zaller to the place where

CHIEF REFUSES TO RESIGN IN DEATH

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Police Chief O. A. Haugheimer announced today that he will not resign as a result of the death of Ralph Strohmeyer who succumbed in jail from a fractured skull alleged to have been inflicted by the chief and two other officers. The victim received his injuries, police said, because he resisted arrest.

"We did no more than any one else would have done under similar circumstances," Haugheimer said. "Strohmeyer fought like a madman and we had to resort to force to subdue him."

SENATOR ODDIE IN LEAD IN NEVADA

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 8.—(UP)—United States Senator Tasker L. Oddie early today was leading Mayor E. E. Roberts of Reno, 5,109 to 2,546, for the Republican senatorial nomination in the tabulation of results of Nevada's primary.

Raymond T. Baker, former director of the mint, led Pat McCarran, his nearest opponent, 2,909 to 1,673 for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

FUNERALS PLANNED WEDNESDAY FOR TWO LONE DUEL VICTIMS

Mrs. Simpson Recovers
From Shock—Wife
Has Wright's Body

Bodies of Archie Simpson, 40, and Newton Wright, 40, Jamestown, who shot each other to death in a gun battle at Simpson's home, 930 E. Second St., Tuesday, lie in the morgue of Johnson and Watkins, undertakers, 616 E. Main St., while plans for their funeral and burial are being completed.

Undertaker Johnson said private services will be held for Wright at one o'clock Thursday at the home of his estranged wife in Jamestown. Wright is said to have neglected his family, consisting of his wife and four children, because of his alleged infatuation for Mrs. Simpson, which police say led to Tuesday's double killing.

He was an expert auto mechanic but refused to work steadily and had been before probate court on several occasions on charges of non-support of his children. Despite her husband's alleged unfaithfulness and neglect, Mrs. Wright claimed the body and arrangements were made to take it to her home in Jamestown Thursday morning. Besides his wife and children, Wright leaves two sisters and a brother, all living in Columbus.

Arrangements had not been completed Wednesday morning for the Simpson rites, which are expected to be held Friday. Mrs. Simpson, who collapsed following the double shooting to which she was a witness, and was under the care of a physician, had returned to normal condition Wednesday morning. Besides his wife, Simpson is survived by his mother and a sister, Miss Della Simpson, who live in Indianapolis, and another sister, Mrs. Wade Allen of Xenia.

Simpson, who was highly respected, had worked at the Xenia Stemmy several years. Previously he had been employed at the Hutchison and Gibson store. He was called home from his work by his wife Tuesday morning because she said Wright was at the house and annoying her. Simpson found that Wright had taken his gun from a bureau drawer in the bedroom and he went to police headquarters and filed a charge against him.

After Simpson's return to his home and while he was in the kitchen with his wife and her partially blind mother, Mrs. Anna Pierce, Wright returned and, entering the kitchen, fired four bullets in Simpson's breast from Simpson's own gun. With an old army repeating rifle he had previously loaded, Simpson, although mortally wounded, succeeded in shooting his assailant three times. Two shots from the rifle passed through a kitchen window. One of the revolver bullets went wild and penetrated a door.

Simpson fell in the front door of the house. Wright, still clutching the revolver, crawled three doors away. Simpson died later. Wright's death occurred at Espey Hospital at 1:20.

SAYS HUSBAND PUT HER INTO CISTERN

MIDDLETOWN, O., Sept. 8.—Police today searched for Nathan Hodges, 28, following the complaint of his wife who charges he nearly strangled her and threw her into a cistern.

Hodges escaped when neighbors heard Mrs. Hodges' screams and ran to aid her.

The woman told police her husband became enraged because she wanted to go to a dance.

GOVERNMENT BEGINS EFFORT TO CONVICT HARRY M. DAUGHERTY

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—(UP)—The government made its first thrust today in its effort to convict former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and former Alien Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller of conspiracy against its interests.

U. S. Attorney Emory R. Buckner, in a detailed opening statement before the jury which will hear the Daugherty-Miller case, charged that Richard E. Merton, of Frankfurt, Germany, came to this country in April, 1921, and through the late Jesse Smith, Daugherty's confidant, laid by improper means a foundation which made possible the return to a Swiss concern allegedly controlled by Germans, $7,000,000 in assets of the seized

HARMONY PREVAILS WHEN REPUBLICANS SELECT CHAIRMAN

Central Committee Regrets Choice Of Sub-Committee

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Harmony prevailed today among Ohio Republican leaders after a contentious four hour session yesterday during which the Republican state central committee threw over its sub-committee's recommendation and named Charles R. Frederickson, of Coshocton, as chairman of the executive committee in charge of the election campaigns.

The sub-committee had selected Attorney George B. Harris, of Cleveland. The full committee finally ruled against Harris because he was not a member of the central committee. The committee then virtually drafted Frederickson, who accepted the post after earnest solicitation by Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican gubernatorial candidate.

Frederickson is a wealthy manufacturer and is president of the Ohio Manufacturers' Association.

The campaign, it was decided, will be opened at Newark, on Sept. 29. Fred W. Warner, Marion, is to be temporary chairman of the campaign sub-committee and congressman William M. Morgan, Newark, running for re-election in the 17th district, is to be permanent chairman of the campaign sub-committee which will work under Frederickson's direction.

Cooper and Senator Frank B. Willis will be the principal speakers. In addition to naming Frederickson head of the executive committee the central organization selected Judge Orville Smith, Cleveland, to be vice chairman; Harry Silver, Eaton, executive secretary; Louis Brush, Salem, secretary treasurer and Harriet Taylor Upton, Warren, vice chairman for women.

Seventeen of the twenty-two women members of the state executive committee also were appointed by the central committee. They included by districts: Fourth, Mrs. A. E. Gale, Lima; fifth, Mrs. S. G. Edwards, Leipsic; seventh, Mrs. Laura Gebby, Bellefontaine; eighth, Mrs. Edna Heisman, Findlay; eleventh, Mrs. Eva L. Fulton, Lancaster; thirteenth, Mrs. Eugenia K. Ringle, Tiffin.

John Weber, forty-five years old, truck farmer today was held in jail while funeral services were conducted for his two year old daughter, Elizabeth, whom he is accused of killing during an argument with his wife, Mrs. Margaret Weber.

A special grand jury is expected to indict Weber for murder tomorrow.

The farmer is alleged to have shot his wife and baby during a quarrel.

Mrs. Weber although seriously wounded, is expected to recover.

WITNESS SAYS ONLY ONE OFFICER MADE RESPONSE TO ALARM

Deposed Chief Is Given
Hearing By Service
Board

CANTON, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Sensational testimony designed to link the Canton police department with the murder of Don R. Mellett, crusading editor, was offered today at the hearing of oyster charges against former police Chief Seranus A. Lengel before the civil service commission.

Miss Laura Hardy, police signal operator testified that when she flashed the emergency signal to police in all parts of the city on the night Mellett was shot from ambush at his home, there was only one response—a patrolman—in twenty-two minutes.

The witness declared the lack of response to the emergency signal was unusual since in every other instance when she had sounded a general alarm, every officer called in immediately.

CANTON, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—For the second time within six months, S. A. Lengel, former police chief went on trial today before the civil service commission on charges of incompetency. An added charge of neglect of duty in the investigation of the murder of Don Mellett has been placed against him. He denies the charges.

More than fifty witnesses—among them the "elite" of Canton's underworld—will tell all they know of Lengel's alleged connections with Canton's "jungle." James "Jumbo" Crowley, alleged underworld king, will be among the first witnesses called by the commission. Ben Rudner, Massillon, one of the three indicted for the murder of Mellett, Carl Studer and Teddy Abbey are all scheduled to testify.

Mayor S. M. Swarts, through the Lengel hearing has declared his intention to show the tie-up between Canton's "jungle" and the police department under Lengel's administration.

Lengel's method of handling the Mellett murder investigation is expected to form an extensive part of the hearings. James L. Amerman and Walter Mills are counsel for the deposed chief.

They defended Lengel last spring when Mayor Swarts attempted to suspend him for six weeks.

With the removal of Price Janney and John W. Burris, former members of the commission, Swarts hopes to permanently dispose of Lengel's claims to the police department. The two men who formerly dominated the commission heard testimony against Lengel in his first trial but reinstated him after the hearing.

Detective Floyd Streitenberger, who upheld the alibi of Louis Mazer, charged with the murder of Mellett, was suspended yesterday by John Wise, acting chief of police, appointed to replace Lengel. Mazer said he was at Streitenberger's home at the time of the assassination.

Mazer and Ben Rudner, both indicted for first degree murder, will probably be arraigned tomorrow morning. Patrick McDermott, the third man charged with Mellett's murder, is missing. Streitenberger will be given a hearing before the safety director Saturday.

XENIANS ATTEND MARRIAGE IN DAYTON

Miss Harriet Martha Whistler, Dayton, sister of Mrs. Spenser Shank, this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas H. Bradrick, Middletown, Ohio, at the home of her parents, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Shank attended the wedding, Mrs. Shank serving as matron of honor. She wore orchid chiffon with blonde hose and slippers and carried a shower of butterfly roses. The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Mr. John C. Bradrick.

The bride entered with her father. She wore blonde chiffon with accessories to match. Sixty guests were present at the wedding and reception. Mrs. Bradrick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Whistler, Santa Clara Ave., Bexar Co., Mo. Mrs. Bradrick is a graduate of Otterbein College, Mrs. Bradrick having since been a teacher of English. Mr. Bradrick is connected with the American Rolling Mills, Middletown. They will reside in that city.

MUSIC STUDIO FACULTY RETURNS

The faculty of the Xenia Music Studios in the Allen Building is returning from the places where they have been summering, ready for the opening of the studios this week. Miss Eva Johnson returned last week from her vacation spent at her home in Michigan and opened the piano department. Miss Ann Marie Lindsey spent her vacation at Lakeside but had to prolong it because of her recent illness. She will open the violin department this week, being at the studios Wednesday and Thursday to greet pupils and friends.

Mrs. Margaret McNeill, teacher of voice, has been added to the faculty for this year, and by next week the studios will be alive with their usual activities, for a busy year has been planned.

DR. GALLOWAY PLANS VISIT TO DESCENDANT OF INDIAN CHIEF

The story of the wooing of Rebecca Galloway, pioneer Greene County maiden, by Tecumseh, the chief of the Shawnee Indians when their capital was at Old Chillicothe, now Old Town, three miles north of Xenia, which was told briefly in "Sidelights of Greene County History," in yesterday's Gazette, and Republican, has an interesting sequel in that Dr. W. A. Galloway, a descendant of Rebecca's family, is soon to go to Oklahoma to visit a descendant of Tecumseh.

Dr. Galloway, who is preparing a history of Old Chillicothe for the Ohio Historical and Archaeological quarterly, has been invited to go to the Shawnee Indian Reservation in Oklahoma as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Alford and their family, Shawnee Indians. Mrs. Alford is one of the twenty living direct descendants of Chief Tecumseh. Her husband is head agent for the tribe.

Dr. Galloway has accepted the invitation and expects to make his visit within a few weeks. His purpose is to obtain additional historical data and pictures for his work. The invitation was the result of correspondence Dr. Galloway has had with the Alford family, whom he came to know through Dr. C. B. Galbreath, secretary of the Ohio Historical and Archaeological Society. Mr. Alford, who is a graduate of an eastern college, is now engaged in translating the four Gospels into the Shawanese language, his object being to aid in preventing the tongue of his people from becoming extinct. He has a very interesting family. His sons are

JUICE OF LEMON WHITENS THE SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

A GREAT MONTH

For three things we are grateful to the month of September. They are Fall, football and oysters. A more popular trio is difficult to imagine and as the good things in life usually come singly we are thankful for the providence of September.

There is an axiom that oysters are in season in the eight months of the year having the letter "R" in their names. We are not informed whether there is an affinity between these months and oyster because the letter "R" is also in the word oyster or it is just a coincidence. Neither do we know the discoverer of the circumstance and the author of the axiom. However, it is neither axiom nor secret that we are glad September has an "R" somewhere among her nine letters and we are not particular in what style the first oysters are served.

To September also are we indebted for fair autumn. Where the summer is hot and the winter cold there is no season quite so delightful as autumn. It is without the extremes of temperature, is comfortably warm by day and somnolently cool at night, is an aid to efficient work and an irresistible urge to recreation. In all it is a season in which to live to the utmost.

Thirdly, September hears the first thud of the pigskin and the first shrill blast of the referee's whistle. The nation in September turns its eyes away from vacations and baseball to feast them upon the gridiron. Recent development of football in the colleges, universities, public schools and athletic clubs has made it a national sport where once it was strictly a college game. When football season opens the whole nation is kin, class barriers erected by education, are dropped and player and spectator play the game for all there is in it.

Every month of the year's twelve has something which makes life worth while but September seems most bountifully endowed with the "better attractions."

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

There is always more or less worry connected with money. Those of us who do not have it worry about getting it, and those of us who have it are often put to a great deal of worry in hanging on to it. In addition to this no little worry is brought on by the desire to make a jitney grow where only a penny grew before. It seems as though poets and philosophers have conspired to bring money into disrepute, so anxious are they to tell us that the mere possession of it is a great burden.

In more recent times there has come to us the warning that money carries germs. Germ experts even went so far as to demonstrate that a bank clerk's occupation was particularly hazardous because he handles so much money. But now this dread has been dispelled. After exhaustive investigation on the subject of money as germ carriers, two Illinois University experts assure us that this danger has been greatly exaggerated. It seems that the metals from which coins are made act as destroyers of bacteria.

This relieves us of the worry connected with the handling of money. The next thing for some expert to do is to tell us how we may be relieved of our worries in trying to get hold of it.

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Over in Madison Square, the best salesmen in America are developed. In this cheerful plot of soil, where meet the two most famous streets in the world—Broadway and Fifth Avenue—yellow bootblacks shine your shoes whether you want them to or not.

These kids, with starch boxes for outfits and with a mysterious syrupy liquid which purports to be "shine" and which I have often suspected of being home brewed, make $18 to $20 a week by the most high powered sales methods known to the civilized world. I have been bullied into a shine by a flow of arguments which would bring Clarence Darrow to his knees.

Particularly if you sit on a bench are you defenseless. Theurchins drift up and corner you. Gently remove one by pushing him over on his back with your foot. He'll be right up again, flourishing a brush.

There is no fixed charge. They start by offering you a five-center. "Only a nickel, boss!" Then during the course of the grooming, they jump it to a dime—"on account of using a extra lot of polish, see how thick, boss?"

And then they give you some information of a confidential nature relative to the amount of the tip which is expected of a "gentleman."

I walked through the other day and saw a well-dressed elderly gentleman, asleep on a bench. A little shaver about eight years old came along, ready for business. He dropped right to his knees, without a moment's hesitation, and began operating on the dozing gentleman's brogues. After the first couple of strokes the old gentleman awoke. He paid.

Men are funny. I know one who goes out of his way to see a red-headed salesgirl in a big depart-

AN INEXPENSIVE SPONGE CAKE

Four eggs used in one cake may seem an extravagance at first glance, but if my readers who peruse the following recipe will stop a moment to consider, I think they will agree with me that this cake is not an inexpensive one. For, it is twice as large as most cakes. Also, being a sponge cake, it contains neither butter or milk. It may be made with ordinary bread flour, but best results are obtained by using pastry flour.

Large Sponge Cake: Separate four eggs, dropping the yolks into a large mixing bowl and the whites into a small, deep bowl. Beat the yolks for several minutes, then add to them two cups of granulated sugar and beat well. Stir in three-quarters of a cup of hot (not boiling) water and stir again very vigorously. Now sift two cups of pastry flour with two teaspoons of baking powder. Beat the four egg whites very stiff. Add the flour to the mixing bowl alternately with the egg whites. Work quickly, as this is the stage that is critical. Swiftly of mixing makes a light cake. Scrape the batter into a large buttered pan; the pan I use is oblong and measures nine and one-half by fifteen inches on the bottom, with flaring sides two inches high. This amount of batter will rise only one-third the way up the sides of the pan before baking, but when done the cake should be almost to the pan top.

It is necessary to be very "fussy" over your oven. Use a Fahrenheit thermometer, if possible, to see that it is at the proper temperature. If you do not have one, use a gas thermometer. You will find it very pleasant to take, without any bad after-effects. You can obtain AGARENE from any druggist or sent prepaid in the United States upon receipt of $1.00. Address Hallen Chemical Corporation, Cincinnati, Ohio.

BAD BREATH

USUALLY CAUSED BY IMPROPER DIGESTION IS EASILY OVERCOME

This condition, which detracts so much from an otherwise fine personality and sometimes leads to serious results, is easily eliminated by a very simple treatment, that will at once correct the fault and at the same time aid in the assimilation of food, regulate the system, remove gaseous conditions and leave the stomach sweet and clean. Try for a few days taking a teaspoonful of AGARENE each morning on arising and just before retiring. You will find it very pleasant to take, without any bad after-effects. You can obtain AGARENE from any druggist or sent prepaid in the United States upon receipt of $1.00. Address Hallen Chemical Corporation, Cincinnati, Ohio.

SIDELIGHTS ON Greene County History

INDIAN ANECDOTE

The following amusing anecdote of the time "when the Indians were about" was a favorite of Dr. George Watt:

About the year 1825, Father Mahin, a local preacher of the Methodist Church living in the eastern part of the county, went as a self-supporting missionary to the Wyandot Indians near Upper Sandusky in view of the fact he had lost his wife and his children were properly cared for.

He had a mechanical turn of mind and made himself especially useful in giving them, with moral and religious instruction, a knowledge of the arts of civilized life, as blacksmithing, shoemaking and the like. I well remember a scene occurring when I was about five years of age.

Six Indians, the first I ever saw, came to my father's home, having been sent to see why Father Mahin who was at home on a visit, had not returned to them at the expected time, and if needed to aid him in the journey.

My mother gave them their dinner, and when they asked the way to Father Mahin's she replied it was about a mile distant in a direct line and two miles by the road.

"I advise you," she said, "to go by the road as you may miss your way." "What?" replied the leader, "must Indian keep out of the woods? Indian get lost? Point to Father's wigwam and tell what it is like." She pointed the direction and gave instructions, and they set out across the fields, fences and woods, going direct, as she afterward learned.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McMillan had for their guests last week, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crouse entertained Misses Gertrude and Frances Moore, of Columbus; Miss Agnes and Margaret Moore, of West Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilce and daughters and Mrs. James Landaker, of South Charleston; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Townsley and daughter, Virginia, and Mrs. Sidney Smith on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. McMillan, wife and five children, of Norfolk, Va., and Rev. McKenzie and wife, of Flushing, N. Y., and Mr. Fred McMillan, of Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Trout attended the State Fair, Tuesday and Wednesday and while there were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Gates, who have just moved into a new home on Grandview Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Turnbull and son, Robert, Mr. N. Oglesbee and daughter returned home Friday from their trip East.

Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Marsh entertained a large company of friends Friday night, in honor of Dr. Fair and wife, who will soon leave for their new home in Cincinnati.

The Theatre

George Gershwin, whose "Rhapsody In Blue," and other jazz compositions have set the whole world humming, would rather be a regular "he-man" than a musician. Of course, that sounds like the usual publicity "line" but is actually true according to a recent interview with him.

Although he spends most of his time studying and listening to music, and his studio is piled high with music chronicles and manuscripts, the small boy who grew up to be modern America's musical symbol had no dreams of such a career. The concert platform was not his ambition. What Gershwin really wanted was to play baseball.

It was not until he discovered that the piano was more remunerative than the amateur bat that he even discovered going into the musical life, he told his questioner. His debut as an artist took place at a small East Side vaudeville house, for like all great men since Pompey, Gershwin started on New York's East Side. His job in the vaudeville theater was to fill in for the orchestra between six and seven while the regular musicians ate their dinners.

Gershwin refused to take himself seriously. He respects Carnegie Hall, but he likes Broadway. He Gertrude Lawrence, the English comedienne who combines the humor of Elsie Janis with the grace of Irene Castle, is soon to be seen in a new comedy with Oscar Shaw.

We hope that Xenians who saw "Mantrap" here this week and who also read Sinclair Lewis' much-discussed novel by the same name, agree with us in thinking the characters were perfectly chosen. The picture religiously followed the theme of the book and the subtitles aided the subtle sarcasm veiled in Lewis' writings. But you noticed the picture had a happy ending—which is the film producer's privilege, but which in this case did not spoil the foregoing.

Today's Talk

GRASP

There is something very wonderful and mysterious about the sincere grasp of another's hand. Something that goes back and forth between the two whose hands meet.

As though one spoke silently in that feeling, to this wise: "I'm for you. You are genuine." The child grasps the hand of its stronger father or mother or friend. It's instinct tells it of love and confidence.

Sometimes, when we feel unusually weak, we pray in our heart for a stronger hand to grasp, a stronger hope to vouch.

Our hands reach out into the silent night, into the silent world of understanding and we hope for something strong and virile that we may grasp its substance. And it is this belief in the existence of something somewhere, that never fails the stout heart that keeps us in the race and makes of the contest a well worthwhile game.

If we realize our ability to grasp an idea we know that we may be its master.

And that would be no mean title: "Master of Ideas!"

"I need just a little help," said my friend, "to make me feel my worth and ability to go ahead in the world and make good."

And that is what we all need. Somebody to give us a little help.

TAKES UP WORK

Dr. Nancy Finney, of Cedarville, who has been appointed resident physician at Western College, Oxford, will go to Oxford Saturday to prepare to take up her year's work. Dr. Finney will close her office in Cedarville, where she has practiced medicine since her graduation from medical school. Mrs. Emily Ninde Tremaine of this city, will be associated with Dr. Finney in her work at Western, as head nurse.

MITZI SEES FOR HERSELF

Jay V. Jay

This Young Man opened the door when Opportunity knocked and taking Mitzi in his motor car, is showing her Kansas City. Mitzi, however, sees for herself many things not pointed out by her guide. Mitzi is mindful that though she is looking at Kansas City, Kansas City (or the young man) might look at her, so she wears a becoming small felt hat with rever effects.

Though the Young Man is pointing out one of the most prominent buildings in the city, Mitzi takes a glance sideward to see one of the best dressed citizens. She wears a high crown felt hat with an ornament in front. Notice, too, the top of the crown. A double flower boutonniere is pinned on the lapel of her coat. Very neat.

"Dear me, there are so many things to see in this city? Things one has never seen before," comments Mitzi which seems somehow amazing to her. For instance, the cut-out monograms on this pocket book leave a contrasting leather showing through. No matter, if they are going by Convention Hall, one has to look right and left and admire all, yes, all the scenery.

He's brought his sister to meet her. Mitzi has immediate and growing respect for her for she wears one of those smart new derbys with overgrown brims. Mitzi wanted to see the Post Office very much. The Young Man was very much touched at her request. The reason she wanted to see it was to mail a letter to a young man in Des Moines. His ignorance is his bliss! Tomorrow—Mitzi Points Out Some Novelties Dad Has Never Known

Reds Lose While Cards Extend Lead

The Cincinnati Reds, considerably jolted in the pennant region, were in Pittsburgh Wednesday for a double-header with the sinking Pirates, after losing a sloppy contest to the Cubs Tuesday afternoon on the home lot.

Pete Donohue, the old dependable, who seems to be back in form and Roy Meeker, the Portland ace, will pitch for the Hendricks athletes, it being the first starting performance for the Pacific Coast pitcher.

While the Reds were playing dead for Joe McCarthy's cohorts, the Cardinals arose and smacked the fading Pirates for a shut-out, which further extended the St. Louis lead in the race for the flag. Further pushed the Buccaneers of the picture, Sherdel was complete master of the champions during the afternoon, the score being 8 to 0.

The strain of chasing the Cardinals is evidently telling on the Reds for the usually reliable Critz muffed two Tuesday and Christensen made a wild toss to the plate, the three errors being responsible for four Cub runs. In the meantime, Carl Mays seemed to have little authority and was far from the form he has been showing in recent games.

Tony Kaufman, starting for the Cubs, was likewise no puzzle as the Reds chased him to the show-ers in the fourth but Guy Bush, who replaced him on the hill, had complete command for the next five rounds and the Cincinnati pastimers were held in subjection. The victory of the Cardinals and the defeat of the Reds, put the Ohioans two full games behind the leaders.

Representatives of the four leading teams will meet with Commissioner Landis in Pittsburgh Saturday morning to discuss plans for the World Series which will open in the American League city, certain to be New York, on October 2 for two games.

Jimmy Huggins, who first based for the Reds earlier in the season as a relief man, has been recalled from Minneapolis, where he has been going great guns, and will be held with the team in case of emergency. Lefty Dyer, recently purchased from the Saginaw, Mich., club, also reported to the Reds Wednesday.

ling the Rev. R. B. Brown, radio preacher and pastor of the Omaha gospel tabernacle. Previously he had been convicted of libeling Walter W. Head, former president of the American Bankers Association.

The sentence by Judge Goss also provides that the plant of the Mediator be "junked" and the mailing list of the newspaper destroyed.

STUDENTS ENROLL AT ANTIOCH COLLEGE

Three hundred and fifty students enrolled Tuesday for the Fall term at Antioch College. The college has accepted 694 candidates for entrance, about 650 of whom are expected to report.

They will be evenly distributed between Divisions A and B. Students in the latter division will enroll in October. Tabulation of students according to classes has not been completed by the registrar.

Students, faculty members and college trustees mingled in a party at Kelly Hall, Tuesday night. About 450 were present at the affair, under the direction of Fred Lettice. Classes convened in the school Wednesday.

The Pilgrim Mother

A statue to the Pilgrim Mother was recently unveiled at Plymouth Rock, Mass. Through her we honor every pioneer woman who endured privation and hardships that a nation might live. Shoulder to shoulder with her husband she built a home in the wilderness and reared her sturdy sons and daughters. She cooked and sewed. She spun and wove for her growing family. When they were ill, she brewed potent remedies from roots and herbs—such roots and herbs as are now used in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Adv.

"After spending $900 for medicine and doctors in four years without getting any benefit for stomach trouble and bloating I was induced by my druggist to try MAYR'S and must say that a $1.25 bottle has done me $500 worth of good." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will confine or money refunded.—Sayer's Drug Store and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

MURDER SUSPECTS TO BE TRIED TUESDAY

ALBANY, Ky., Sept. 8.—Albany's four "poison murder" suspects will go on trial Tuesday for the killing of Frank Burchett, 73, farmer, Judge Campbell Shaler announced here today.

The suspects—Mrs. Dora Burchett, the comely young widow and heiress to $45,000 Burchett estate, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lawrence, who are in their seventies and "Big Bill" Cummins, 54, the eccentric farm hand, all are held in the little two story brick jail here pending the trial. They were indicted by the grand jury Monday.

The young widow is about to become a mother. Despite this fact, Judge Shaler has refused to free her on bond.

"Whatever criticism may be offered to this course should be discounted in the face of the seriousness of the crime," he said today. Burchett's sudden death on August 18 was followed by a post mortem which revealed traces of poison in the vital organs. A son by a former marriage, Charles Burchett, then swore to warrants for the quartet now held.

EAST END NEWS

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Hester spent Sunday in Columbus visiting several different churches and guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Plus. Rev. Hester administered the Lord's Supper for Rev. Plus, pastor of Second Baptist Church, Columbus. On Monday they attended the Harris-Roberts reunion at Milford Center.

Mr. J. J. Turner in company with his son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Hester left Wednesday morning for Indianapolis, Ind. to attend the National Convention convening there this week.

Rev. J. B. Woods of Dayville, Ky., is president of the convention. They will be gone a week visiting other cities in Indiana.

JOHN BISHOP DIES AT INFIRMARY HERE

John Bishop, 71, inmate of the Greene County Infirmary, died Wednesday morning at 4:30. Death was caused by Bright's disease.

The deceased, who has been at the institution since June, leaves no family. He formerly resided at New Jasper.

Funeral services will be held at the Infirmary chapel Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

MAYOR'S COURT

FINED IN COURT

Fred Saunders, colored, was fined $100 and costs by Mayor John W. Prugh Tuesday on a charge of intoxication. The fact that Saunders has been in police court several times on the same charge and was once given a suspended sentence was the reason for the severe fine given him. His lieutenant, C. Turner, Columbus employer, C. Turner, Columbus Pike, secured payment of the fine.

CONVICTED OF LIBEL MUST LEAVE STATE

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 8.—After having been convicted for the second time of libel, Edwin L. Huntley, editor of the Weekly Mediator, today faced banishment for five years from the state.

District Judge Goss banished the editor instead of giving him a prison sentence. Huntley announced he would leave the state within a week.

Huntley pleaded guilty to libel.

SMILING DRY AGENT IS SERIOUSLY SHOT

ATHENS, O., Sept. 8.—Constable Edgar Mariner, the "smiling dry agent and hero for many battles, with back country moonshiners," today was fighting for his life—the victim of his boast that he never drew a gun in any of his raids unless forced to do so.

"Smiling Ed," as he is known throughout the valley, had been wounded ten times before he was shot down in a gun battle with Joe Ward, negro bootlegger suspect, near here, Monday.

Mariner was still alive today but little hope was held for his recovery.

The constable, a man of medium height, rather slender, with dark smiling eyes and black hair was noted throughout the valley as a "gentleman" raider.

EXPECT BIG VOTE IN GEORGIA VOTING

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 8.—Clear weather and a vigorous campaign was expected to bring out a large vote in the state democratic primary today.

The world court issue between the senatorial aspirants was overshadowed by the contest among John Holder, highway commissioner, George Carewell, J. O. Wood and Dr. L. C. Hardman for the gubernatorial nomination.

Senator Walter F. George, world court advocate, was favored to defeat Justice Richard Russell of the state supreme court for the senatorial nomination. Russell declares the world court is "an iniquitous institution."

BRITISH SAILORS KILLED IN BATTLE

HONG KONG, Sept. 8.—Seven British sailors were killed and fifteen were wounded, it was announced today in Sunday's battle near Hankow on the Yangtze river when British naval vessels engaged the troops of Marshal Wu Pei Fu.

Commander Darley, of the British cruiser Despatch, and two other officers were among the killed. Two other officers were wounded and the remainder of the casualties were enlisted men.

HOPE FOR SENATOR

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 8.—The condition of Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois, who showed some improvement yesterday after having been dangerously ill for two weeks, was reported as "unchanged" today.

While his condition is still weak doctors today expressed a hope for McKinley's recovery.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license was granted Wednesday to Ernest William Linker, depot agent for the American Express Company and Goldie Margaret Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huston 661 S. Detroit St. Rev. A. J. Furstenberger was named as the officiating clergyman.

HARRY BARBER DIES EARLY WEDNESDAY

Harry Barber, 43, died at his home in Cedarville, Wednesday morning at 12:30. He had been ill a week with peritonitis which developed from an attack of intestinal grip.

Mr. Barber was formerly located in Laramie, Wyo., with the Sinclair Oil Co. He came to his home in Cedarville last December, to care for his mother, Mrs. Jeanette Eekridge, an invalid. It is thought his faithful attention to his mother undermined his health and resulted in his death.

Besides his mother, Mr. Barber is survived by one brother, Reese Barber, of Beverly Hills, Calif. Four uncles also survive: Hayes McLean, Cedarville; Asa McLean, El Paso, Tex.; Carlton McLean, Detroit; and Roland McLean, Dayton.

The deceased was a member of the First M. E. Church, Cedarville.

Private funeral services will be held at the residence on Xenia Ave., Cedarville at 3 o'clock standard time, Friday. Friends may call Thursday evening from 7 until 9.

BUSINESS MEN TO PLAY BOY SCOUTS

The Junior Business Men's Club and Troop 2, Xenia Boy Scouts will meet Wednesday afternoon for the third and final game of the City Playground-Ball Championship Series. Losing the first game to the Boy Scouts by one run in an overtime contest, the J. B. M. C. strengthened its lineup and warped the Kiwanians by the impressive score of 21-1. In the second Boy Scout encounter, the Scouts did a "good turn" and graciously lost to the business men, 27-5. The game Wednesday is called at 6 o'clock at Cox Field. Spectators are cordially invited.

Scouts will present their best lineup Wednesday evening, using practically the same players who defeated the business men in the first game. The probable lineup will be: Bice, 2b; Gibney, p; Adair, c; Stout, 1b; Monroe, 3b; Bell, ss; Hurley, lf; Lewis, cf; Zell, rf; Spahr, Lm; Lorraine, L. Hornick and J. D. Adair, S. N. McCellan and Verne Faires will officiate.

GASTON LEWIS HAS COACHING POSITION

Gaston Lewis, former star athlete at Wilberforce University, left Friday for Montgomery, Ala., where he will assume his duties as instructor and athletic coach at the State Normal School.

Lewis, who is the son of Fredrick Lewis, southeast of Xenia, made an athletic name for himself when a member of the basketball team at Caesar Creek High School.

He later starred in football, basketball, and baseball at Wilberforce where he graduated this year.

CHANGE AGE LIMIT ON SCHOOL ENTRANCE

Age limit on primary entrance in the City Public Schools has been moved from October 1 to November 1, by the Board of Education, City Superintendent H. C. Pendry has announced.

Certain assignments of first-grade pupils will be made individually for those pupils whose sixth birthday occurs in October, of various districts, Superintendent Pendry said.

Fifth and sixth grades of Springfield Hill, McKinley and Orient Hill Schools will all be placed in Springfield Hill, it is planned, and some of these pupils will have to be re-districted, the superintendent believes.

School pupils must attend school until they are eighteen years of age, according to the laws of Ohio, unless they are regularly employed. After reaching the age of sixteen, pupils may obtain working certificates for regular employment.

Central High School, Xenia, will open Monday morning at 8 o'clock and the grade schools of the city at 8:15. This time will be held throughout the year. Superintendent Pendry is warning pupils against belated entrance to school, and urges all to begin their studies the first day.

OHIO STATE FAIR WEEK

It was Ohio State Fair Week in Columbus last week and the city was taken over by the rural gentry in blue serges and percales from every little Buckeye hamlet. The Ohio farmer was having a week of holiday.

In the smoky railroad station there was a jabber of tongues almost as noisy as the cling-clang of the incoming limiteds. Through dense throngs that awaited incoming guests, trekked faced lads from Front and Long Sts., wove in and out, singling out those who were in search of lodging.

Careful as they were, many a visitor found his way to the police station and there sung a tale of woe at the feet of the police lieutenant.

There was a toothless fellow from Buzzard's Knob, who told pathetically how he consented to sleep with a stranger in a crowded rooming house. Then the old, old story of awakening to find his money and the stranger missing.

Then, too, there was the big hearted Sanfred from the farm who bumped into Mabel and took her to a show. They attended a dance before going home. Sanfred bid her adieu after the dance and went to his room. He went to wind his seventeen jewel graduation gift and found it missing.

Never was there a quiet moment in Columbus during the week. Up in the wee small hours of the morning the jazz or chestras were blaring the latest hits. And when the city slumbered the farmers were up taking in the sights. Many were at the fair grounds long before the gates opened.

"You scream and I scream for ice cream," was one of the yells heard in the grandstands this year. Nothing quite so attractive to a hungry newspaperman as the bean dinner—all the beans you can eat for a dime.

HOWZAT?

"No calico I sell,"
Said Flint,
"The girls won't see Themselves in print."

Thousands of rooms in Columbus are rented through classified ads. In Xenia, the Gazette is the paper for renting rooms. Hundreds use it. Just phone your ads to Phone 111 and charge them.

The Gilded Rose

By May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from idle gossip that she has been married for her money. Before her enormous fortune was left her, she had been an over-worked little drudge in her father's inn.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband, is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother. Rosilyn, loving her husband, knows he is still in love with LYDIA HARBROOK, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying Landis.

STEVE VAN VORST, is a wealthy old roue, friendly with RUPERT BRISCOE, a dissipated man of the world, has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. Lydia learns of this interest, and she and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby Rosilyn and Briscoe will see a great deal of each other, and Lydia will have a chance to exert her wiles upon Landis. The plan works, and Landis, finding himself often alone with Lydia, falls under her spell once more.

Van Vorst, however, hungering for her love, decides to use MARIETTA FERNANDEZ, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a scheme. These two come to New York where Marietta begins to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. After an exciting adventure she is rescued by Briscoe who tells a "fishy" story to account for his proximity to the scene. Soon after Landis effects a reconciliation with Rosilyn and becomes his old lovable self, in the city meanwhile Marietta feels her power over Briscoe declining and commits suicide.

CHAPTER 67

A SORDID UNDERSTANDING

"Well, Rupert, you seem to have made a pretty mess of things. Hope it won't go too hard with you at the inquest. These corners are mighty cute, you know, and I understand there to be a jury."

They were sitting in the lounge of Lydia's hotel, and Briscoe's face darkened as he listened to the plain truths spoken by the charmer.

"Oh, come off it, Lydia. You're a job's comforter, you are! That can't corner me in any way! Although I'm awfully sorry that the girl lost her head and did such a desperate deed, I can't see that I'm particularly to blame."

"Who else?" Lydia had never been an admirer of Briscoe's, and now she rather enjoyed the chance of "balting" him.

"What about your pal, Steve Van Vorst?" he countered. "You know it was he who installed Marietta Fernandez in that cute little apartment?"

Such a bit of spicy news would certainly "get back" at Lydia, who was so coquettish of herself and her own charms, and who believed old Van Vorst to be entirely hers.

Briscoe was surprised, and rather disconcerted, when Lydia coolly answered:

"I know he did. But don't misinterpret his motive. Your dancing girl was nothing in the world to him, and he only paid her rent because he wanted her to do him a service. You'll laugh when you know what it was."

Briscoe said:

"I don't feel like laughing. But out with it."

"Well, it's this—Steve Van Vorst is hopelessly keen about me."

"Surely not hopelessly? You know which side your bread is buttered, don't you?"

"Don't interrupt, Rupert. And don't be flippant. What I feel for Steve has nothing in the world to do with you. As a matter of fact, he has his good points—"

"In hard cash. Money talks," inserted Briscoe, with an unpleasant grin.

"Be silent, as I tried to tell you, Steve has been crazy about me for donkey's years. And Landis was poaching on his preserves, so he thought."

"He thought truly."

"So the dear old simpson thought up a scheme. This Marietta girl was to try and hypnotize Landis, and so draw him away from my wicked charms. The idea was that I would then, being forsaken by my former sweetheart, turn to him—"

"Van Vorst, I mean."

Briscoe was all ears. The Marietta tragedy was dashed unpleasant, if the truth be told. And though he never harbored such a disturbing and puritanical thing as a conscience, he had lots of qualms about the attitude of the law and the public, and what the daily papers might get hold of.

"You get me Steve?" queried Lydia, partly and slangily, lighting a cigarette.

"You're saying there was nothing between him and the poor soul who's just taken her life?"

"Positively nothing. I know Steve. He's a rough diamond, but he has his good points."

"Scintillating. I am sure, just like the gem he is!"

"He's a better man than you," exclaimed Lydia, with sudden heat. "If I were in your shoes, I'd have a ghastly attack of conscience, and wouldn't be able to sleep in my bed at nights. I know—indeed quite a number of people know—where the responsibility of Marietta's death lies!"

Like all cowards, Briscoe paled, and the hand that held his cigarette trembled, so that the ash split upon the floor. He stooped down, trying to cover his confusion by a show of removing the mess.

"If you think I'd anything to do with it," he began.

Lydia cut him short, brusquely. "I don't think I know, I tell you. And let that suffice with you, trying to bluff me. Now what about the Rosilyn girl? What game are you playing in that quarter?"

"Game? What game?"

"No doubt a waiting game," she flung at him pertly. "Well, what's your cue at the present moment? Out with it!"

The man regarded Lydia from the tail corner of his eye.

"What's that to you, my dear?"

"A good deal," she eyed him shrewdly. "I'm rather fond of Landis as no doubt you know. And if you intend to take the country wife off his hands for a spell, I'm with you."

He grinned at this frank confession. Lydia could be refreshingly open, at times.

"I've advised her to clear out for a bit, and bring her husband to his senses. And I think she's going to follow my advice."

"Oh, is she?" Lydia's eyes narrowed. Her scheming brain was working quickly. The island episode, compromising as it had been, had only resulted in the wagging of the gossips' tongues. Landis had been almost estranged by it, and Mrs. Ridgeway senior had nearly forbidden her the house.

But of course if the chit herself—and by that Lydia meant Rosilyn—could be definitely put in the boot, the boot would be quite on the other foot, wouldn't it?

If Rosilyn, for instance, became compromised in some way with a man like Rupert Briscoe, who really did have something of a reputation, as a roue—

And Lydia happened to know that Landis wasn't too keen to have his young wife seen in Briscoe's company.

You've been persuading her to go away for a while, have you, Rupert? Alone, you mean?"

"Naturally. What do you take me for?"

"For what you are," came the frank comment. "Neither more or less. You may bluff the young and innocent, Rupert, but you can't bluff me." And Lydia gave a shrill laugh that wasn't pretty.

Her eyes, carefully made up, seemed old as Egypt at the moment.

There was a silence. Then Lydia said:

"Well, out with it. Where's the shorn lamb going to hide herself?"

Briscoe hesitated, then he answered:

"She's planning to go to her father's inn on the marshes. God knows the child had a rough enough time there, but it seems to call her, somehow."

"Meaning that she's had a still rougher time since she left it, and tried to find her unfledged wings among you birds of paradise, or I ought more aptly to say—birds of prey?" And Lydia laughed again, shrilly.

"The old place seems to call her."

His companion tilted up her face to his.

"I dare say it calls you too, does it? Confess!"

Perfectly comprehending, they regarded each other in silence.

The same plan was simmering in their minds.

BERNARD MACFADDEN

The foot is a marvel of delicately adjusted mechanism scarcely less wonderful than the hand, and yet it is frightfully abused. How few adults there are who have not a permanent affliction of the foot in one form or another, from corns to a general tenderness, and how many of these accept it as a permanent and unavoidable condition! Yet as improper footwear is the one great cause of these troubles, they can all be remedied by the use of proper shoes or stockings or, in extreme cases, by discarding footwear of all sorts and going barefoot. Special exercises for the foot consists in stretching and moving the foot in every possible direction. There are many movements useful for strengthening the foot. The following are examples of exercise that may readily be devised for the purpose.

Sit in bed with feet extended; stretch them to limit of power to ward foot of the bed. After this preparation, bring right foot up to left knee, rest it with right hand separate the toes slowly, now pull little toe to the right, following with pulling of each toe in same direction, opening spaces between and rubbing gently with fingers very slowly. Push toes to the left, beginning with great toe, following with others as above, rubbing spaces between and holding toes apart. Push toes upward and then downward as far as possible without discomfort, in turn. Toe and heel rubs are valuable movements to strengthen the ligaments of the foot.

A mistaken idea of the beautiful leads the average woman to desire the appearance of having small feet, whether or not these are in proportion to her figure. Therefore she pointed tip, which has a toe in a space that has comfortable room for only one or two, and of which the heel is preposterously small and high, and pushed forward under the arch of the foot. The foot is so weakened by the wearing of unnatural shoes that when rational footwear is adopted the muscles that should support themselves break down, and through the injury to the bones of the foot, a painful condition results that is sometimes permanent.

WILL SPEND HALF MILLION FOR ADS

To put a fire extinguisher in every home, $500,000 will be spent in advertising the next year by the Fire Equipment Manufacturers' Institute and member companies. It was decided at a convention of the institute in Montreal attended by representatives of about fifty American and Canadian corporations engaged in the manufacture of fire equipment.

The institute itself will spend approximately $50,000, the Pyrene Manufacturing Company, $100,000, American La France Company $100,000, Foamite-Chemicals $100,000 and another $100,000 or more will be provided by other companies.

JAMES M'CURRAN IS MADE GRAND KNIGHT OF K. OF C. COUNCIL

James F. McCurran, Xenia, was elected grand knight of Xenia Council, No. 1801, Knights of Columbus at the annual election of officers held Tuesday night.

He succeeds Henry J. Walsh, grand knight for the last two years. William Baker, Yellow Springs, was elected deputy grand knight and other officers selected are: James Killeen, chancellor; Joseph Hendrickson, recording secretary; Timothy Canning, treasurer; George Killeen, advocate; Thomas Gilroy, warden; James Coudner, inside guard; Michael Nachford, outside guard; J. E. Daly, trustee.

Under a new rule of the order the financial secretary is not elected but is appointed by a committee composed of the trustees, the grand knight and immediate past grand knight. This committee will select a financial secretary October 1, it is announced.

Refreshments were served at Tuesday night's meeting and members discussed plans for a Columbus Day program, October 12. A banquet is a tentative feature of the plans which will be worked out later.

WIFE ASKS COURT FOR SEPARATION; WHITE CASE NOLLED

He has a vicious temper, flies into fits of rage, attempts to strike her, is filthy in his habits and she is no longer able to endure him, Emma Shank alleges in a petition for divorce from Steven Shank. They were married August 25, 1925. She asks to be restored to her maiden name, Hampton and for alimony.

CASE IS NOLLED

Upon consent of the court a nolle prosequi was entered by Prosecuting Attorney J. C. Marshall Tuesday in the case of the State against Agnew White, colored, indicted for assault and battery.

DECREES GRANTED

Divorce decrees have been granted in the following cases: Mary Rebecca Montgomery from Marion A. Montgomery, on grounds of wilful absence. Plaintiff restored to her maiden name Mary Rebecca Ashbough.

Robert E. Richardson from Martha Richardson on grounds of wilful absence.

Marjorie Reed from Roscoe Reed on grounds of gross neglect of duty and cruelty. Plaintiff given custody of the child Barbara June.

CASE DISMISSED

ADDRESS THURSDAY OPEN TO PUBLIC AND IS FREE OF CHARGE

James A. Edgerton, Washington, D. C., who will address an open meeting for Xenians at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Detroit and Second Sts., Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time, will speak at the N. C. R., Dayton, Wednesday evening, it is announced.

Mr. Edgerton, newspaper man, writer, author, government official and lecturer, was for fifteen years president of the International New Thought Alliance, resigning in February, 1924. His newspaper connections were with the Denver News, the New York American, the American Press Association and other organizations and he was later an official of the post office department and during the war a member of the war industries board.

Mr. Edgerton was born in Plantsville, Athens County, Ohio, in 1869 and was educated at Lebanon and Marietta. He is continuing his connection with the International New Thought Alliance as a member of the council, chairman of the plans committee and as lecturer.

His address here Thursday night will be free, there being no charges and no collections.

ELECTION BOARD APPROVES TICKETS FOR ELECTION DAY

Declarations of candidacy and petitions in other matters to come before the voters at the November election were approved by the Greene County Board of Elections Tuesday night.

The board certified back to the secretary of state the petition for repeal of the primary law which had been sent to the board for approval. The board also certified petitions filed by the Prohibition party for county offices and by the Socialist organization for state ticket.

The Socialist ticket which had been sent here from Cleveland, had only fifteen local signatures attached. It is not known whether that is a sufficient number of names to permit the petition to go on local ballots.

The only other work transacted by the board was approval of the petitions for common pleas judges to go on the non-partisan judicial ballot, filed by Judge R. L. Gowdy, Attorney Frank H. Dean and George H. Thorne.

HOSPITAL HEAD TO ADDRESS W. C. T. U.

Dr. H. H. McClellan, of the Dayton State Hospital, will be the principal speaker on the afternoon program of the Greene County W. C. T. U. convention, September 17.

Full program details will be announced later. Place for the convention has not been decided.

KATYDIDS HERE SO FROST TO BE EARLY

LONDON, O., Sept. 8.—Basing their oracular contention on the appearance of katydids in Madison County, farmers today predicted frost within the next few weeks. "Katydids always mean frost within five or six weeks," the local prophets say.

What Makes Home Happy?

FOUR walls can make a house, but it takes a woman to make a home.

The woman who prepares nourishing and attractive meals, does her housework without grumbling, raises a family of healthy boys and girls and still finds time to be a pal to her husband and a friend to her neighbors, is accomplishing the biggest job in the world. Homes like hers—little havens of peace and love—are the bulwark of the nation.

To be a successful homemaker a woman must guard her health. When the mother is not well the home is upset. Women everywhere are learning through their own personal experiences, as Mrs. Riessinger did, the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. RIESSINGER was in poor health after the birth of her first baby. She weighed only 98 pounds. One day a neighbor told her of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she decided to try it. "After taking four bottles," she writes, "I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework without one bit of trouble." Her address is Mrs. M. RIESSINGER, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

FOR BREAD AND PASTRIES

"E" BRAND FLOUR

Days and weeks of experimenting and testing in chemical laboratories were required to secure the perfect results obtained in "E" BRAND FLOUR. The fact that it always makes bread and pastries that are light, flaky and richly savory, instead of gummy and sticky, is due to the fact that finest grade wheat in the world is made into flour by the newest and most improved methods known to modern milling. This flour is snowy white and velvety fine in texture but retains all of the rich nourishment of the heart of the wheat. Try it and see if you will not find a new pride and delight in your baking.

COOLIDGE SENATOR TRAILS LAFOLLETTE MAN IN WISCONSIN

Blaine Lead Slight How-
ever—Progressives
Lose In State

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 8.—Senator Irvine Lenroot, Coolidge republican and senior senator from Wisconsin today was trailing governor John J. Blaine, LaFollette progressive, for the Republican senatorial nomination. Blaine's lead, however, was so slight that the outcome probably will not be known before late today.

Returns from 1936 precincts of the state's 273 give: Blaine 96,176; Lenroot 92,184.

In the gubernatorial nominations, however, the LaFollette machine suffered defeat. The nomination of Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman, an anti-Blaine progressive, over Herman L. Ekern, attorney general and LaFollette man, seemed assured. Zimmerman from returns in 1467 precincts had a lead of 17,000.

There were no Democratic contests for either the senator or the governorship.

Thomas M. Kearney is the only Democratic senatorial candidate and Virgil Cady is the only Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Milwaukee, Wisconsin's metropolis and always considered one of Lenroot's strongholds, gave Gov. Blaine sufficient majority to put him in the lead. This was attributed to Blaine's stand for beer and modification of the prohibition laws as against Lenroot's plank for a state referendum on prohibition. The heavy German vote of the state is in Milwaukee. Blaine had a lead of 7,000 votes in the county this morning.

Lenroot, however, picked up sizeable margins in rural counties which heretofore had been considered Blaine certainties. In the past three weeks Lenroot has made a rigorous campaign through these sections.

The gubernatorial race found Zimmerman leading from the start. The assemblyman, who is an associate of the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, but challenged the right of Blaine and Ekern to control the progressive strength of the state.

The vote in the gubernatorial race this morning: Zimmerman 96,117; Ekern 79,154.

In the congressional races all of the progressive Republicans were successful in winning re-nomination with the exception of the seventh district where Rep. J. D. Beck apparently has been defeated by Merlin Hull, another progressive. In the fifth district now served by Rep. Victor Berger, socialist, the Republican nomination apparently has gone to William H. Stafford, progressive, who served in the lower house prior to Berger.

MOSES NOMINATED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Senator George H. Moses was renominated in yesterday's Republican senatorial primary by a plurality of about 17,000, returns from 261 towns and wards out of a total of 294 indicated today.

Former Gov. Robert P. Bass early today conceded the nomination of Senator Moses, whom he had opposed in the primary.

Gov. John G. Winant appeared to have lost his primary fight for re-nomination to Huntley N. Spaulding, chairman of the state board of education.

Eaton D. Sargent of Nassau was given the Democratic gubernatorial nomination without a contest.

Robert C. Murchie of Concord appeared to have been re-nominated for U. S. senator by the Democrats over Albert W. Noyes of Peterboro. Only a few hundred votes were cast in the contest.

GOVERNOR LEADS IN ARIZONA CONTESTS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Governor G. W. P. Hunt, seeking re-election to a sixth term, today was leading in the contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In 122 out of 484 precincts in the state the vote was: Hunt 5,536; F. E. Ellinwood, retired banker, 2,810.

State Senator J. J. Cox, 2,410. W. S. Clark, an attorney, was leading Thomas Maddock, an engineer by 550 votes for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

United States Senator Ralph Cameron was unopposed for re-nomination by Republicans.

GERMANY ADMITTED TO LEAGUE AND GETS SEAT WITH COUNCIL

Removes Last Obstacle
To Locarno Peace
Agreements

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—Germany was admitted to the League of Nations today and immediately was elevated to permanent membership on the league council. The diplomatic equilibrium of Europe and the league thereby was vastly altered.

At frequent intervals during the eight years since the close of the war Germany has been summoned before the bar of allied or other justice to explain, promise or to deny. Henceforth, Germany may be expected to occupy a comfortable chair at international councils and her representatives will speak and argue on a parity with the representatives not only of the nations which were neutral but those which opposed her during the war.

Simultaneously with its action in creating a permanent council seat for Germany, the league assembly created three new non-permanent council seats, thereby increasing the membership of the upper house of the league from fourteen to seventeen. There are now five permanent council seats possessed by the British empire, France, Italy, Japan and Germany. One other permanent seat is being held for the United States.

The assembly's vote admitting Germany to the league was unanimous—but six months late. The league council and the league assembly sought last March to make Germany a league member but the wrangling debate over permanent council seats prevented the desired action.

With Germany's entry into the league, Europe hoped for the beginning of a new era of tranquility for upon Germany's admission depended the consummation of the famous agreements of Locarno in which the statesmen of England, France, Italy, Poland, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Germany last autumn pledged their various countries to peace and arbitration.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—The League of Nations secretariat today denied that Spain had submitted her resignation from the league of nations.

GOVERNOR DONAHAY ASKS OHIO CITIZENS TO BUY OHIO'S COAL

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 8.—An urgent appeal for the general prosperity of Ohio was made today by Governor Donahay.

"I call upon every man and woman in Ohio to please buy Ohio coal and buy it now," Donahay urged.

"The general prosperity of our great commonwealth cannot be permanent until Ohio's coal industry is revived."

Ohio's coal industry, the governor declared, which stood second among the industries of the state a few years ago, has been relegated into a "vastly inferior position."

"Never before in the history of Ohio has a great business suffered so rapid a decline," he added.

"Unless checked at once the ultimate result will be complete paralysis of our entire mining system."

Nothing but the "universal patriotic purchase of Ohio coal by Ohio coal users," can prevent the ultimate extinction of Ohio mining, Donahay pointed out, and urged the purchase of the Ohio product to ward off the "virtual starvation of the unfortunate miners and their families."

THIS IS ONLY "FAST AGE" FOR THOSE WHO ARE SLOW HE STATES

Address Opens Cedarville
College Wednesday
Morning

"The road to failure is strewn with the lives of bad guessers," was the declaration of Myers Y. Cooper, Republican gubernatorial candidate, who delivered the main address at opening exercises of Cedarville College, at Cedarville High School Auditorium, Wednesday morning.

"Know what you want, get the truth of that purpose and carry out your aim," he admonished the college students.

"We can't all be senators but we can be filled with the idea of doing the best we can. Education is the ability to know how to do that which has fallen to our lot to do."

"In no country in the world does the obligation of citizenship fall as heavy as it does in America."

Mr. Cooper deplored the fact that only slightly over fifty per cent of the country's population exercised their rights of citizenship in voting in 1924 and that only twenty per cent in Ohio voted this year.

"Citizenship is our greatest obligation," he declared. "When the hearts of the people are appealed to in the right manner, then only will there be better government. One in every twelve of the young people before me will participate in government in future years if the present ratio is maintained."

"Some business men boast that they are not interested in politics and criticize the government, but the need is for them to get interested in its functioning and see that conditions are bettered."

"It takes some crises to get the public interested in government, such a crisis as was the World War. At that period, everyone laid aside his personal interests to see that those of the government were maintained. That state of mind is needed always at all times."

"Some people who have no tax receipts labor under the delusion that they do not pay taxes, whereas the figures show that everywhere in the state paid $350 in taxes, on the average, last year. The cost of government is heavy, and the Ohio State government needs a business man at its helm."

The speaker said, introducing statistics on state government operation.

"Mr. Cooper urged the young people to be interested in government. There is some complaint of this being the 'fast age'—an idea which I do not share. It is just a 'fast age' for slow people. With all due respect to those who have gone before, I venture the opinion that the boys and girls of present day colleges will go out in the world and make a better reflection on their education than in past years, since they are better fitted for the tasks of the world."

"No great work is brought about without hard work and ceaseless toil. Don't hurry. Don't try to begin where your fathers ended. Begin at the bottom. Don't be easily discouraged and a quitter."

"There is more room at the top despite increased competition," he told the audience of students.

"One must just know how to get there and build with the right preparation."

Approximately 600 people filled the auditorium for the address, including a number of Greene County Republicans. Invocation was pronounced by the Rev. W. H. Tilford, Presbyterian church, Xenia. Several songs were given by the Cedarville Quartet, with Scripture reading by the Rev. S. R. Jamieson. President W. R. McCleskey, introduced Harry D. Silver, former speaker of the House of Representatives, present deputy state auditor and manager of Mr. Cooper's gubernatorial campaign.

Mr. Silver made a short talk and introduced Mr. Cooper. The Rev. W. R. Harriman delivered the benediction.

SENATOR ODDIE IN LEAD IN NEVADA

CARSON CITY, Nev., Sept. 8.—(UP)—United States Senator Tasker L. Oddie early today was leading Mayor E. E. Roberts of Reno, 5,109 to 2,546, for the Republican senatorial nomination in the tabulation of results of Nevada's primary.

Raymond T. Baker, former director of the mint, led Pat McCarran, his nearest opponent, 2,909 to 1,673 for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

TEACH SAFETY
CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—(UP)—School children will be taught traffic safety, it was announced here today. To protect Cleveland's 200,000 school children from traffic danger the local safety council is preparing a text book on safety which will be issued to the 6,000 teachers in the county.

FIVE OFFICERS SHOT AT FROM AMBUSH ON MEXICAN BORDER

Prisoners Taken For Murder Killed By Friends, Is Believed; Officers Escape Injury In Gun
Battle—Gunmen Escape

RAYMONDSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Feeling ran high here today and extra precautions against further outbreaks of violence were taken following the ambush of five Mexicans and five officers near here yesterday in which five men were killed.

Twenty Mexicans were in jail today as a result of the shooting. The battle occurred when the officers accompanied Jose and Delancia Munoz, Cinco Gonzales and Matt Zaller to the place where Jose said guns used in the slaying of two officers Sunday night were hidden. Tomas Munoz Jose's father accompanied the four prisoners in addition to the five officers.

As the group of men neared the patch of brush and trees where Jose said the guns were concealed, the officers forced the prisoners to walk ahead. Suddenly a volley of rifle fire rattled from the brush. The officers dropped to the ground and returned the fire. Caught between the volleys, the four prisoners and the elder Munoz were killed. None of the officers were struck by bullets but it was believed several of the ambush party were wounded.

All of the hidden gunmen escaped but traces of blood on the ground indicated some of them had been wounded.

Leslie Shaw, deputy sheriff at Mays, constable, were killed Sunday night in the Mexican quarter where they had gone to quell a disturbance at a dance. Arrest of the four men followed.

CHILLICOTHE, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Police Chief O. A. Haugher announced today that he will resign as a result of the death of Ralph Strohmeyer who succumbed in jail from a fractured skull alleged to have been inflicted by the chief and two other officers.

The victim received his injuries police said, because he resisted arrest.

"We did no more than any one else would have done under similar circumstances," Haugher said. "Strohmeyer fought like a madman and we had to resort to force to subdue him."

FUNERALS PLANNED WEDNESDAY FOR TWO LONE DUEL VICTIMS

Mrs. Simpson Recovers
From Shock—Wife
Has Wright's Body

Bodies of Archie Simpson, 40, and Newton Wright, 40, Jamestown, who shot each other to death in a gun battle at Simpson's home, 930 E. Second St., Tuesday, lie in the morgue of Johnson and Watkins, undertakers, 616 E. Main St., while plans for their funeral and burial are being completed.

Undertaker Johnson said private services will be held for Wright at one o'clock Thursday at the home of his estranged wife in Jamestown. Wright is said to have neglected his family, consisting of his wife and four children. Because of his alleged infatuation for Mrs. Simpson, which police said led to Tuesday's double killing.

He was an expert auto mechanic but refused to work steadily and had been before probate court on several occasions on charges of non-support of his children. Besides her husband's alleged unfaithfulness and neglect, Mrs. Wright claimed the body and arrangements were made to take it to her home in Jamestown Thursday morning. Besides his wife and children, Wright leaves two sisters and a brother, all living in Columbus.

Arrangements had not been completed Wednesday morning for the Simpson rites, which are expected to be held Friday. Mrs. Simpson, who collapsed following the double shooting to which she was a witness, and was under the care of a physician, had returned to normal condition Wednesday morning.

Besides his wife, Simpson is survived by his mother and a sister, Miss Della Simpson who live in Indianapolis, and another sister, Mrs. Wade Allen of Xenia.

Simpson, who was highly respected, had worked at the Xenia Stemmy several years. Previous to he had been employed at the Hutchison and Gibson store. He was called home from his work by his wife Tuesday morning because she said Wright was at the house and annoying her. Simpson found that Wright had taken his gun from a bureau drawer in the bedroom and he went to police headquarters and filed a charge against him.

After Simpson's return to his home and while he was in the kitchen with his wife and her partially blind mother, Mrs. Anna Pierce, Wright returned and, entering the kitchen, fired four bullets in Simpson's breast from Simpson's own gun. With an old army repeating rifle he had previously loaded, Simpson, although mortally wounded, succeeded in shooting his assailant three times. Two shots from the rifle passed through a kitchen window. One of the revolver bullets went wild and penetrated a door.

Simpson fell in the front door of the house, Wright, still clutching the revolver crawled three doors away. Simpson died at his home an hour and a half later. Wright's death occurred at Espey Hospital at 1:20.

SAYS HUSBAND PUT HER INTO CISTERN

MIDDLETOWN, O., Sept. 8.—Police today searched for Nathan Hodges, 28, following the complaint of his wife who charges he nearly strangled her and threw her into a cistern.

Hodges escaped when neighbors heard Mrs. Hodges' screams and ran to aid her.

The woman told police her husband became enraged because she wanted to go to a dance.

ADMITS MURDER AND ASKS FOR ARREST

CLEVELAND, Sept. 8.—(UP)—A man who gave his name as George Verlice walked into police headquarters here today and told officers he had killed a man in Portland, Ore., three years ago. Verlice asked to be locked up.

"I was in a fight in Portland, Ore., three years ago and I stabbed a man to death," Verlice said according to police.

Officers are investigating the story.

CUSTOMS OFFICER
DIES AT MENTOR

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 8.—Acute indigestion caused the death of Miner G. Norton, U. S. Customs collector at his summer home at Mentor last night following a two days illness.

Norton will be buried in his home town, Jefferson, O., Friday afternoon. Norton had been prominent in Cuyahoga County politics for forty years having been law director under Mayor Robert McKisson, congressman from the twelfth district and candidate for mayor of Cleveland in 1915.

COOPER SPEAKS

Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, Republican gubernatorial candidate told Cedarville College students this is only a "fast age" for slow people at the school opening Wednesday morning.

More than fifty witnesses among them the "elite" of Canton's underworld will tell all they know of Lengel's alleged connections with Canton's "jungle." James "Jumbo" Crowley, alleged underworld king, will be among the first witnesses called by the commission.

Ben Rudner, Massillon, one of the three indicted for the murder of Mellett, Carl Studer and Teddy Abbey are all scheduled to testify.

Mayor S. M. Swarts, through the Lengel hearing has declared his intention to show the tie-up between Canton's "jungle" and the police department under Lengel's administration.

Lengel's method of handling the Mellett murder investigation is expected to form an extensive part of the hearings. James L. Amerman and Walter Mills are counsel for the deposed chief.

They deposed Lengel last spring when Mayor Swarts attempted to suspend him for six weeks.

With the removal of Price Janson and John W. Burris, former members of the commission, Swarts hopes to permanently dispose of Lengel's claims to the police department. The two men who formerly dominated the commission heard testimony against Lengel in his first trial but reinstated him after the hearing.

Detective Floyd Streitenberger, who upheld the alibi of Louis Mazer charged with the murder of Mellett, was suspended yesterday by John Wise, acting chief of police, appointed to replace Lengel. Mazer said he was at Streitenberger's home at the time of the assassination.

Mazer and Ben Rudner, both indicted for first degree murder, will probably be arraigned tomorrow morning. Patrick McDermott, the third man charged with Lengel's murder, is missing. Streitenberger will be given a hearing before the safety director Saturday.

HOLD TRUCK FARMER
ON MURDER CHARGE

BATAVIA, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—John Weber, forty-five years old, truck farmer, today was held in jail while funeral services were conducted for his two year old daughter, Elizabeth, whom he is accused of killing during an argument with his wife, Mrs. Margaret Weber.

A special grand jury is expected to indict Weber for murder tomorrow.

The farmer is alleged to have shot his wife and baby during a quarrel.

Mrs. Weber although seriously wounded, is expected to recover.

MAY REORGANIZE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 8.—Reorganization of the Bergholz Telephone Company, operating service in Carroll, Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson and Stark counties, was asked today in a petition to the public utilities commission.

The telephone company incorporated in 1916 would be reincorporated, the new company issuing $269,000 in bonds to pay for indebtedness of the old company.

WITNESS SAYS ONLY ONE OFFICER MADE RESPONSE TO ALARM

Deposed Chief Is Given
Hearing By Service
Board

CANTON, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—Sensational testimony designed to link the Canton police department with the murder of Don R. Mellett, crusading editor, was offered today at the hearing of ouster charges against former police Chief Seranus A. Lengel before the civil service commission.

Miss Laura Hardy, police signal operator testified that when she flashed the emergency signal to police in all parts of the city on the night Mellett was shot from ambush at his home, there was only one response—a patrolman—in twenty-two minutes.

The witness declared the lack of response to the emergency signal was unusual since in every other instance when she had sounded a general alarm, every officer called in immediately.

CANTON, O., Sept. 8.—(UP)—For the second time within six months, S. A. Lengel, former police chief went on trial today before the civil service commission on charges of incompetency. An added charge of neglect of duty in the investigation of the murder of Don Mellett has been placed against him. He denies the charges.

More than fifty witnesses among them the "elite" of Canton's underworld will tell all they know of Lengel's alleged connections with Canton's "jungle." James "Jumbo" Crowley, alleged underworld king, will be among the first witnesses called by the commission.

Ben Rudner, Massillon, one of the three indicted for the murder of Mellett, Carl Studer and Teddy Abbey are all scheduled to testify.

A GREAT MONTH

For three things are we grateful to the month of September. They are Fall, football and oysters. A more popular trio is difficult to imagine and as the good things in life usually come singly we are thankful for the providence of September.

There is an axiom that oysters are in season in the eight months of the year having the letter "R" in their names. We are not informed whether there is an affinity between these months and oyster because the letter "R" is also in the word oyster or it is just a coincidence. Neither do we know the discoverer of the circumstance and the author of the axiom. However, it is neither axiom nor secret that we are glad September has an "R" somewhere among her nine letters and we are not particular in what style the first oysters are served.

To September also are we indebted for fair autumn. Where the summer is hot and the winter cold there is no season quite so delightful as autumn. It is without the extremes of temperature, is comfortably warm by day and somnolently cool at night, is an aid to efficient work and an irresistible urge to recreation. In all it is a season in which to live to the utmost.

Thirdly, September hears the first thud of the pigskin and the first shrill blast of the referee's whistle. The nation in September turns its eyes away from vacations and baseball to feast them upon the gridiron. Recent development of football in the colleges, universities, public schools and athletic clubs has made it a national sport where once it was strictly a college game. When football season opens the whole nation is kin, class barriers erected by education, are dropped and player and spectator play the game for all there is in it.

Every month of the year's twelve has something which makes life worth while but September seems most bountifully endowed with the "better attractions."

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY

There is always more or less worry connected with money. Those of us who do not have it worry about getting it, and those of us who have it are often put to a great deal of worry in hanging on to it. In addition to this no little worry is brought on by the desire to make a jitney grow where only a penny grew before. It seems as though poets and philosophers have conspired to bring money into disrepute, so anxious are they to tell us that the mere possession of it is a great burden.

In more recent times there has come to us the warning that money carries germs. Germ experts even went so far as to demonstrate that a bank clerk's occupation was particularly hazardous because he handles so much money. But now this dread has been dispelled. After exhaustive investigation on the subject of money as germ carriers, two Illinois University experts assure us that this danger has been greatly exaggerated. It seems that the metals from which coins are made act as destroyers of bacteria.

This relieves us of the worry connected with the handling of money. The next thing for some expert to do is to tell us how we may be relieved of our worries in trying to get hold of it.

East Side - West Side

—OF—

New York

By Jack O'Donnell

Over in Madison Square, the best salesmen in America are developed. In this cheerful plot of soil, where meet the two most famous streets in the world—Broadway and Fifth Avenue—young bootblacks shine their shoes whether you want them or not.

These kids, with starch boxes for outfits and with a mysterious syrupy liquid which purports to be "shine" and which I have often suspected of being home brewed, make $18 to $20 a week by the most high powered sales methods known to the civilized world. They have been hulled into a shine by a flow of arguments which would bring Clarence Darrow to his knees.

Particularly if you sit on a bench are you defenseless. The arches drift up and corner you. Gently remove one by pushing him over on his back with your foot; he'll be right up again, flourishing a brush.

There is no fixed charge. They start by offering you a five-center. "Only a nickel, boss!"

Then during the course of the grooming, they jump it to a dime—"on account of using a extra lot of polish, see how thick, boss?"

And then they give you some information of a confidential nature relative to the amount of the tip which is expected of a "gentleman."

I walked through the other day and saw a well-dressed elderly gentleman, asleep on a bench. A little shaver about eight years old came along, ready for business. He dropped right to his knees, without a moment's hesitation, and began operating on the dozing gentleman's brogues. After the first couple of strokes the old gentleman awoke. He paid.

Men are funny. I know one who goes out of his way to see a red-headed salesgirl in a big department store. Just to stand and watch her, without her knowing. Just to see her hands, swiftly doing up a bundle. Sometimes he stands for five minutes, obscure in a crowd, worshipping. And invariably he goes to the telephone booth and calls up his wife, a sort of spiritual vindication, a hostage to loyalty.

Patrick Delancey McVane O'Sullivan, truck driver, climbed to the seat of his big truck and threw it in first. Just as he was letting the clutch in, he noticed a blue-grey pigeon, pecking oats right in front of his wheels. He honked. Nothing happened. He honked. Nothing happened. So Patrick Delancey McVane O'Sullivan, truck driver, climbed all the way down out of his seat and personally escorted the pigeon out of the way.

And I know two or three other truck drivers that would have done the same—although they haven't got such a grand name.

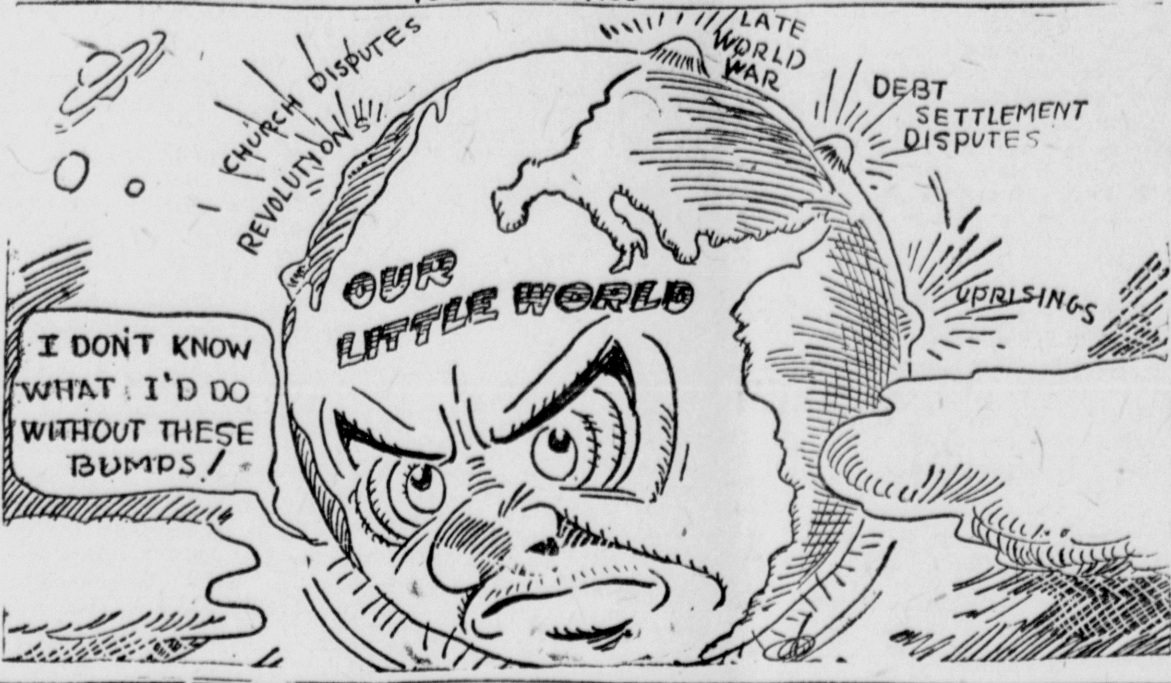

SEPTEMBER RALLY MONTH FOR CHURCH

September has been set aside as "rally month" in the drive for members of First Lutheran Sunday School. September 5 was "Primary Day" at the school when a big attendance marked the day. The grand rally will be staged October 3, when each department will have a large representation. Each department is alternating in having charge of services during the month.

Man—the Progressive Animal

1906-TWENTY YEARS AGO-1926

By the fall of a scaffold at the new M. E. Church, which is being erected at Spring Valley, five persons had a narrow escape from death or serious injury.

Thirty-four documents were filed today in Cincinnati by the Little Miami Light, Heat and Power Co., conveying to the company valuable rights along the Little Miami River.

The Xenia schools will open for the Fall term on Monday. Let the children forget the date, we beg leave to mention this fact.

"Dolly Varden," a musical comedy with a great number of pretty girls will be seen at the Opera House, Sept. 24. Sousa's band will be here Sept. 26.

AN INEXPENSIVE SPONGE CAKE

Four eggs used in one cake may seem an extravagance at first glance, but if my readers who peruse the following recipe will stop a moment to consider, I think they will agree with me that this cake is not an inexpensive one. For, it is twice as large as most cakes. Also, being a sponge cake, it contains neither butter or milk. It may be made with ordinary bread flour, but best results are obtained by using pastry flour.

Large Sponge Cake: Separate four eggs, dropping the yolks into a large mixing bowl and the whites into a small, deep bowl. Beat the yolks for several minutes, then add to them two cups of granulated sugar and beat well. Stir in three-quarters of a cup of hot (not boiling) water and stir again very vigorously. Now sift two cups of pastry flour with two teaspoons of baking powder. Beat the four egg whites very stiff. Add the flour to the mixing bowl alternately with the egg whites. Work quickly, as this is the stage that is critical. Swiftly mix the batter into a large buttered pan; the pan I use is oblong and measures nine and one-half by fifteen inches on the bottom, with flaring sides two inches high. This amount of batter will rise only one-third the way up the sides of the pan before baking, but when done the cake should be almost to the pan top.

It is necessary to be very "fussy" over your oven. Use a Fahrenheit thermometer, if possible, to see that it is at 350° F.

For the sake of the beginner-housekeeper I am going to explain that a "real" sponge cake is raised by eggs only—that is, it contains no baking powder. But the "real" sponge cakes call for more eggs than the thrifty housewife of today cares to use, so a butterless cake of this sort has to answer for the real variety. Sponge cakes do not need frosting. Also do not cut them with a knife. Break with the fingers or divide into pieces with two silver forks. I use no flavoring with this cake, but you may grate lemon rind into it early in the mixing process, if you please.

The following amusing anecdote of the time "when the Indians were about" was a favorite of Dr. George Watt:

About the year 1825, Father Mahin, a local preacher of the Methodist Church living in the eastern part of the county, went as a self-supporting missionary to the Wyandot Indians near Upper Sandusky in view of the fact he had lost his wife and his children were properly cared for.

He had a mechanical turn of mind and made himself especially useful in giving them, with moral and religious instruction, a knowledge of the arts of civilized life, as blacksmithing, shoemaking and the like. I well remember a scene occurring when I was about five years of age.

Six Indians, the first I ever saw, came to my father's home, having been sent to see why Father Mahin, who was at home on a visit, had not returned to them at the expected time, and if needed to aid him in the journey.

My mother gave them their dinner, and when they asked the way to Father Mahin's she replied it was about a mile distant in a direct line and two miles by the road.

"I advise you," she said, "to go by the road as you may miss your way." "What?" replied the leader, "must Indian keep out of the woods? Indian get lost? Point to Father's wigwam and tell what it is like." She pointed the direction and gave instructions, and they set out across the fields, fences and woods, going direct, as she afterward learned.

Reds Lose While Cards Extend Lead

The Cincinnati Reds, considerably jolted in the pennant region, were in Pittsburgh Wednesday for a double-header with the sinking Pirates, after losing a sloppy contest to the Cubs Tuesday afternoon on the home lot.

Pete Donohue, the old dependable, who seems to be back in form and Roy Meeker, the Portland ace, will pitch for the Henricks athletes, it being the first starting performance for the Pacific Coast pitcher.

While the Reds were playing dead for Joe McCarthy's cohorts, the Cardinals arose and smacked the fading Pirates for a shut-out, which further extended the St. Louis lead in the race for the tag and further pushed the Buccaneers out of the picture. Sherdel was complete master of the champions during the afternoon, the score being 8 to 0.

The strain of chasing the Cardinals is evidently telling on the Reds for the usually reliable Critz muffed two Tuesday and Christensen made a wild toss to the plate, the three errors being responsible for four Cub runs. In the meantime, Carl Mays seemed to have little authority and was far from the form he has been showing in recent games.

Tony Kauffman, starting for the Cubs, was likewise no puzzle as the Reds chased him to the showers in the fourth but Guy Bush, who replaced him on the hill, had complete command for the next five rounds and the Cincinnati pastimers were held in subjection. The victory of the Cardinals and the defeat of the Reds, put the Ohioans two full games behind the leaders.

Representatives of the four leading teams will meet with Commissioner Landis in Pittsburgh Saturday morning to discuss plans for the World Series which will open in the American League city, certain to be New York, on October 2 for two games.

Jimmy Huggins, who first-baseman for the Reds earlier in the season as a relief man, has been recalled from Minneapolis, where he has been going great guns, and will be held with the team in case of emergency. Lefty Dyer, recently purchased from the Saginaw, Mich., club, also reported to the Reds Wednesday.

GRID PRACTICE ON CINCINNATI AVE.

Tilton's "33" football team will practice Wednesday night instead of Tuesday night, as announced yesterday, and the session will be held at the Cincinnati Ave. ball park instead of Washington Park, members announce. Flood lights have been erected on the fences surrounding the ball lot so that the gridiron is lighted. The team will be able to practice two nights each week after dark besides the Sunday practices until the season opens.

FOOTBALL STAR WAS MARRIED LAST MAY

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 5.—Announcement was made here today of the wedding of Herbert Steger, captain of the University of Michigan football team in 1924 to Miss Dorothy Garnett, 16 year old sub-deb, last May. The couple had planned to keep the wedding a secret until the young bride reached eighteen years of age. The couple was married in May at the home of Steger's brother in Oak Park, Ill.

BUSINESS MEN TO PLAY BOY SCOUTS

The Junior Business Men's Club and Troop 2, Xenia Boy Scouts will meet Wednesday afternoon for the third and final game of the City Playground-Ball Championship Series. Losing the first game to the Boy Scouts by one run in an overtime contest, the J. B. M. C. strengthened its lineup and warmed the Kiwanians with the impressive score of 21-1. In the second Boy Scout encounter, the Scouts did a "good turn" and graciously lost to the business men, 27-5. The game Wednesday is called at 6 o'clock at Cox Field. Spectators are cordially invited.

Scouts will present their best lineup Wednesday evening, using practically the same players who defeated the business men in the first game. The probable lineup will be: Bloch, 2b; Glibney, p.; Adair, c; Stout, 1b; Monroe, 3b; Bell, ss; Hurley, lf; Lewis, cf; Zell, rf; Spahr, Lorrimer, L. Hornick and J. Hornick will be in reserve. J. D. Adair, S. N. McClellan and Verne Fairies will officiate.

GASTON LEWIS HAS COACHING POSITION

Gaston Lewis, former star athlete at Wilberforce University, left Friday for Montgomery, Ala., where he will assume his duties as instructor and athletic coach at the State Normal School. Lewis, who is the son of Frederick Lewis, southeast of Xenia, made an athletic name for himself when a member of the basketball team at Caesar Creek High School. He later starred in football, basketball, and baseball at Wilberforce where he graduated this year.

CHANGE AGE LIMIT ON SCHOOL ENTRANCE

Age limit on primary entrance in the City Public Schools has been moved from October 1 to November 1, by the Board of Education, City Superintendent H. C. Pendry has announced. Certain assignments of first-grade pupils will be made individually for those pupils whose sixth birthday occurs in October, to various districts, Superintendent Pendry said.

Fifth and sixth grades of Spring Hill, McKinley and Orient Hill Schools will all be placed in Spring Hill, it is planned, and some of these pupils will have to be re-districted, the superintendent believes. School pupils must attend school until they are eighteen years of age, according to the laws of Ohio, unless they are regularly employed. After reaching the age of sixteen, pupils may obtain working certificates for regular employment.

Central High School, Xenia, will open Monday morning at 8 o'clock and the grade schools of the city at 8:15. This time will be held throughout the year. Superintendent Pendry is warning pupils against belated entrance to school, and urges all to begin their studies the first day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Not since the war have two such promising young heavyweights attracted the public attention that is being given to Monte Munn, Nebraska legislator, and Harry Persson, a big Swede and the best heavyweight in Europe.

This statement is made without losing thought of Louis Angel Firpo and with the realization that it is fickle to pick out rookie fighters and expect too much of them on early form.

But Munn and Persson are worth a guess not only because of the native ability they seem to have and the physical attributes that they surely have but because of the training for which they have placed their future.

Munn has placed himself in the hands of wise old Dan Hickey, who developed Paul Berlenbach and Persson has lined up with Jimmy De Forest, who prepared Jack Dempsey for his fight against Willard and who perhaps is the greatest trainer of boxers in the world.

De Forest, who has been looking around for a heavyweight championship prospect for seven years and who has scouted hundreds since Jack Kearns dismissed him after the Toledo fight thought he had found his fortune when Firpo crawled out of a cellar in Newark and came to him for advice.

But Firpo wouldn't stick. He thought that De Forest wasn't getting him along fast enough and he listened to amateur experts who told him that De Forest was still a Dempsey man and that he would teach him the wrong things so that Dempsey could whip him. "I never could have made a finished fighter out of Firpo," De Forest said later. He never could have been taught how to box because he wasn't built to be a boxer. But I could have put him in physical condition and taught him how to defend himself. I also had the disadvantage of being forced to give him all his instruction through an interpreter.

If DeForest had been in his corner when he fought Dempsey, Firpo might have won the world's championship. The referee would have been in a tough spot, at least, if one of Firpo's seconds had made a real protest about fouls and De Forest certainly would not have lost his head as Firpo's men did.

Because of the Becketts, the Scotts and the other prominent European heavyweights, Americans have an inclination to flatter when a fighter comes to this country bearing foreign decorations but Persson is a real prospect and De Forest will bring out everything that he has.

Munn, however, seems to be much more of a prospect. Apparently he has everything a fighter needs, size, strength, punching

HARRY BARBER DIES EARLY WEDNESDAY

Harry Barber, 43, died at his home in Cedarville, Wednesday morning at 12:30. He had been ill a week with peritonitis which developed from an attack of intestinal grip.

Mr. Barber was formerly located in Laramie, Wyo., with the Sinclair Oil Co. He came to his home in Cedarville last December, to care for his mother, Mrs. Jeanette Eskridge, an invalid. It is thought his faithful attention to his mother undermined his health and resulted in his death.

Besides his mother, Mr. Barber is survived by one brother, Reese Barber, of Beverly Hills, Calif. Four uncles also survive: Hayes McLean, Cedarville; Asa McLean, El Paso, Tex.; Carlton McLean, Detroit, and Roland McLean Dayton.

The deceased was a member of the First M. E. Church, Cedarville.

Private funeral services will be held at the residence on Xenia Ave., Cedarville at 3 o'clock standard time, Friday. Friends may call Thursday evening from 7 until 9.

THE DUMBUNNIES—An Interpretation

MURDER SUSPECTS TO BE TRIED TUESDAY

ALBANY, Ky., Sept. 5.—Albany's four "poison murder" suspects will go on trial Tuesday for the killing of Frank Burchett, 73, farmer, Judge Campbell Shaler announced here today.

The suspects—Mrs. Dora Burchett, the comely young widow and heiress to $45,000 Burchett estate, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lawrence, who are in their seventies and "Big Bill" Cummins, 54, the eccentric farm hand, all are held in the little two story brick jail here pending the trial. They were indicted by the grand jury Monday.

The young widow is about to become a mother. Despite this fact, Judge Shaler has refused to free her on bond.

"Whatever criticism may be offered to this court should be directed in the face of the seriousness of the crime," he said today. Burchett's sudden death on August 18 was followed by a post mortem which revealed traces of poison in the vital organs. A son by a former marriage, Charles Burchett, then swore to warrants for the quartet now held.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Hester spent Sunday in Columbus visiting several different churches and the guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Plus. Rev. Hester administered the Lord's Supper for Rev. Plus, pastor of Second Baptist Church, Columbus. On Monday they attended the Harris-Roberts reunion at Milford Center.

Mr. J. J. Turner in company with his son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Hester left Wednesday morning for Indianapolis, Ind., to attend the National Convention convening there this week. Rev. J. B. Woods of Dayton, Ky., is president of the convention. They will be gone a week visiting other cities in Indiana.

JOHN BISHOP DIES AT INFIRMARY HERE

John Bishop, 71, inmate of the Green County infirmary, died Wednesday morning at 4:30. Death was caused by Bright's disease.

The deceased, who has been at the institution since June, leaves no family. He formerly resided at New Jasper. Funeral services will be held at the infirmary chapel Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

MAYOR'S COURT
FINED IN COURT
Fred Saunders, colored, was fined $100 and costs by Mayor John W. Prugh Tuesday on a charge of intoxication. The fact that Saunders has been in police court several times on the same charge and was once given a suspended sentence was the reason for the severe fine given him. His employer, C. C. Turner, Columbus Pike, secured payment of the fine.

CONVICTED OF LIBEL MUST LEAVE STATE

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 5.—After having been convicted for the second time of libel, Edwin L. Huntley, editor of the Weekly Mediator, today faced banishment for five years from the state.

District Judge Goss banished the editor instead of giving him a prison sentence. Huntley announced he would leave the state within a week.

Huntley pleaded guilty to libel.

STUDENTS ENROLL AT ANTIOCH COLLEGE

Three hundred and fifty students enrolled Tuesday for the Fall term at Antioch College. The college has accepted 694 candidates for entrance, about 650 of whom are expected to report.

They will be evenly distributed between Divisions A and B. Students in the latter division will enroll in October. Tabulation of students according to classes has not been completed by the registrar.

Students, faculty members and college trustees mingled in a party at Kelly Hall, Tuesday night. About 450 were present at the affair, under the direction of Fred Leithe. Classes convened in the school Wednesday.

The Pilgrim Mother

A statue to the Pilgrim Mother was recently unveiled at Plymouth Rock, Mass. Through her we honor every pioneer woman who endured privation and hardships that a nation might live. Shoulder to shoulder with her husband she built a home in the wilderness and reared her sturdy sons and daughters. She cooked and sewed. She spun and wove for her growing family. When they were ill, she brewed potent remedies from roots and herbs—such roots and herbs as are now used in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Adv.

Tailor Makes Valuable Find

"After spending $900 for medicine and doctors in four years without getting any benefit for stomach trouble and bloating I was induced by my druggist to try MAYR'S and must say that a $1.25 bottle has done me $500 worth of good." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Sayre's Drug Store and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

OHIO STATE FAIR WEEK

It was Ohio State Fair Week in Columbus last week and the city was taken over by the rural genius in blue serge and percales from every little Buckeye hamlet. The Ohio farmer was having a week of holiday.

In the smoky railroad station there was a jabber of tongues almost as noisy as the clanging of the incoming Limiteds. Through dense throngs that awaited incoming guests, freckled faced lads from Front and Long Sts., wove in and out, singling out those who were in search of lodging.

Careful as they were, many a visitor found his way to the police station and there sung a tale of woe at the feet of the police lieutenant.

There was a toothless fellow from Buzzard's Knobb, who told pathetically how he consented to sleep with a stranger in a crowded rooming house. Then the old, old story of awakening to find his money and the stranger missing.

Then, too, there was the big hearted Sanfred from the farm who bumped into Mabel and took her to a show. They attended a dance before going home. Sanfred bid her adieu after the dance and went to his room. He went to wind his seventeen jewel graduation gift and found it missing.

Never was there a quiet moment in Columbus during the week. Up to the wee small hours of the morning the jazz orchestras were blaring the latest hits. And when the city slumbered the farmers were up taking in the sights. Many were at the fair grounds long before the gates opened.

"You scream and I scream for ice cream," was one of the yells heard in the grandstands this year. Nothing quite so attractive to a hungry newspaperman as the bean dinner—all the beans you can eat for a dime.

HOWTAT?

"No calico I sell,"
Said Flint,
"The girls won't see Themselves in print."

Thousands of rooms in Columbus are rented through classified ads. In Xenia, the Gazette is the paper for renting rooms.
Hundreds use it. Just phone your ads to Phone 111 and charge

The Gilded Rose

By May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY:

ROSILYN RIDGEWAY learns on her wedding day from the little drudge in her father's inn, LANDIS RIDGEWAY, her husband is a brilliant, fascinating man, who was forced into the marriage by his mother. Rosilyn, loving her husband, knows he is still in love with LYDIA HARBROOK, a beautiful, cold society girl who is bent on marrying Landis.

STEVE VAN VORST, is a wealthy old man, friendly with RUPERT BRISCOE, a dissipated man of the world, has seen Rosilyn but once, and yet is deeply interested in her. LYDIA learns of this interest, and she and Briscoe concoct a plot whereby Rosilyn and Briscoe will see a great deal of each other, and Lydia will have a chance to exert her wiles upon Landis. The plan works, and Landis, finding himself often alone with Lydia, falls under her spell once more.

Van Vorst, however, hungering for her love, decides to use MARIETTA FERNANDEZ, a dancer and sweetheart of Briscoe's in connection with a scheme. These two come to New York where Marietta begins to vamp Landis away from Lydia, leaving a clear field for the elderly schemer.

In the country at the Ridgeway place, Rosilyn, in a fever of jealousy and anxiety over the protracted disappearance of her husband seeks the solace of the countryside. After an exciting adventure she is rescued by Briscoe who tells a "fishy" story to account for her proximity to the scene. Soon after Landis effects a reconciliation with Rosilyn and becomes his old lovable self,—in the city meanwhile Marietta feels her power over Briscoe declining and commits suicide.

CHAPTER 67
A SORDID UNDERSTANDING
"Well, Rupert, you seem to have made a pretty mess of things. Hope it won't go too hard with you at the inquest. These coroners are mighty cute, you know, and I understand there to be a jury."

They were sitting in the lounge of Lydia's hotel, and Briscoe's face darkened as he listened to the plain truths spoken by the charmer.

"Oh, come off it, Lydia. You're a job's comforter, you are! I can't corner me in any way! Although I'm awfully sorry that the girl lost her head and did such a desperate deed, I can't see that I'm particularly to blame."

"Who else?" Lydia had never been an admirer of Briscoe's, and now she rather enjoyed the chance of "balting" him.

"What about your pal, Steve Van Vorst?" he countered. "I know you know it was he who instigated Marietta in that cute little apartment?"

Such a bit of spicy news would certainly "get back" at Lydia, who was so cocksure of herself and her own charms, and who believed old Van Vorst to be entirely hers. Briscoe was surprised, and a rather disconcerted, when Lydia coolly answered:

"I know he did. But don't misinterpret his motive. You're a big girl, and you know the world to him, and he only paid her rent because he wanted her to do him a service. You'll laugh when you know what it was."

"Briscoe said: 'I don't feel like laughing. But out with it.'"

"Well, it's like this—Steve Van Vorst is hopelessly keen about me—"

"Surely not hopelessly? You know which side your bread is buttered, don't you?"

"Don't interrupt, Rupert. And don't be flippant. What I feel for Steve has nothing in the world to do with you. As a matter of fact, he has his good points—"

"In hard cash. Money talks," inserted Briscoe, with an unpleasant grin.

She tapped his arm. "Be silent. As I tried to tell you, Steve has been crazy about me for donkey's years. And Landis was poaching on his preserves, so he thought."

"He thought truly?"

"So the old simpleton thought up a scheme. This Marietta girl was to try and hypnotize Landis, and so draw him away from my wicked charms. The idea was that I would then, being forsaken by my former sweetheart, turn to him—to Van Vorst, I mean—"

Briscoe was all ears. The Marietta raged was dashed unpleasant, if the truth be told. And though he never harbored such a disturbing and puritanical thing as a conscience, he had lots of qualms about the attitude of the law and the public, and what the daily papers might get hold of.

"D'you get me Steve?" queried Lydia, in a staccato and slanging, lighting a cigarette.

"You're saying there was nothing between him and the poor soul who's just taken her life?"

"Positively nothing. I know Steve. He's a good diamond, but he has his good points."

"Scintillating. I am sure, just like the gem he is!"

"He's a better man than you," exclaimed Lydia, with sudden heat. "If I were in your shoes, I'd have a ghastly attack of conscience, and wouldn't be able to sleep in my bed at nights. I know—indeed quite a number of people know—where the real responsibility of Marietta's death lies!"

"Like all cowards, Briscoe paled, and the hand that held the cigarette trembled, so that the ash split upon the floor. He stooped down, trying to cover his confusion by a show of removing the mess.

"If you think I'd anything to do with it," he began. Lydia cut him short, brusquely. "I don't think," I know, I tell you. And let that suffice, without trying to bluff me. Now what about the Rosilyn girl? What game are you playing in that quarter?"

"Game? What game?" "No doubt a waiting game," she flung at him pertly. "Well, what's your cue at the present moment? Out with it!"

"The man regarded Lydia from the tail corner of his eye. 'What's that to you?' 'A good deal.' She eyed him shrewdly. 'I'm rather fond of Landis as no doubt you know. And if you intend to take the country wife off his hands for a spell, I'm with you.'"

He grinned at this frank confession. Lydia could be refreshingly open, at times. "I've advised her to clear out for a bit, and bring her husband to his senses. And I think she's going to follow my advice."

"Oh, is she?" Lydia's eyes narrowed. Her scheming brain was working quickly. The island episode, compromising as it had been, had only resulted in the wagging of the gossips' tongues. Landis had been almost estranged by it, and Mrs. Ridgeway had nearly forbidden her the house.

But of course if the chit herself—and by that Lydia meant Rosilyn—could be definitely put in the wrong, the boot would be quite on the other foot, wouldn't it?"

If Rosilyn, for instance, became compromised in some way with a man like Rupert Briscoe, who really did have something of a reputation, as a roue—?

And Lydia happened to know that Landis wasn't too keen to have his young wife seen in Briscoe's company.

"You've been persuading her to go away for a while, have you, Rupert? Alone, you mean?"

"Naturally. What do you take me for?"

"For what you are," came the frank comment. "Neither more or less. You may bluff the young and innocent, Rupert, but you can't bluff me." And Lydia gave a shrill laugh that wasn't pretty.

Her eyes, carefully made up, appeared told as Egypt at the moment.

There was a silence. Then Lydia said: "Well, out with it. Where's the shorn lamb going to hide herself?"

Briscoe hesitated, then he answered: "She's planning to go to her father's inn on the marshes. God knows the child had a rough enough time there, but it seems to call her, somehow."

"Meaning that she's had a still rougher time since she left it, and tried to find her unfledged wings among you birds of paradise? Or I ought more aptly to say—birds of prey?" And Lydia laughed again, shrilly.

The old place seems to call her. His companion tilted up her pert face to his. "I dare say it calls you too, does it? Confess!"

Perfectly comprehending, they regarded each other in silence. The same plan was simmering in their minds.

BERNARD MACFADDEN

The foot is a marvel of delicately adjusted mechanism scarcely less wonderful than the hand, and yet it is frightfully abused. How few adults there are who have not a permanent affliction of the foot in one form or another, from corns to a general tenderness, and how many of these accept it as a permanent and unavoidable condition.

Yet as improper footwear is the one great cause of these troubles, they can all be remedied by the use of proper shoes and stockings or, in extreme case, by discarding the outdoor of all sorts and going indoors in slippers.

There are many methods of foot consists in stretching and moving the foot in every possible direction. There are many movements useful for strengthening the foot. The following are examples of exercises that may readily be performed for this purpose.

Sit in bed with your legs extended; stretch them to limit of power to ward foot of the bed. After this preparation, bring right foot up to left knee, rest it and with right hand separate the toes slowly, now pull little toe to the right, following with pulling of the big toe in same direction, opening spaces between and rubbing gently with fingers very slowly. Push toes to the left, beginning with great toe, following with others as above, rubbing spaces between and holding.

Then do the same with the left foot, and then downward and outward, and then downward and inward, in turn. Toe and heel raising are valuable movements to strengthen the ligaments of the foot.

A mistaken idea of the beautiful leads the average woman to desire the appearance of feet of small feet, whether or not these are in proportion to her figure. Therefore she demands a shoe that has a pointed tip, which crowds five toes in a space that has comfortable room for only one or two, and of which the heel exercises the foot in a small and high, and pushed forward under the arch of the foot. The foot is so weakened by the wearing of unnatural shoes that when rational footwear is adopted which does not give support to muscles that should take care of themselves, the foot breaks down, and through the injury to the bones of the foot, a painful condition results that is sometimes permanent.

WILL SPEND HALF MILLION FOR ADS

To put a fire extinguisher in every home, $500,000 will be spent in advertising the next year by the Fire Equipment Manufacturers' Institute and member companies. It was decided at a convention of the institute in Montreal attended by representatives of about fifty American and Canadian corporations engaged in the manufacture of fire equipment.

The institute itself will spend approximately $50,000, the Pyrene Manufacturing Company, $100,000, American La France Company, $100,000, Foamite-Union, $100,000, and more will be provided by other companies.

JAMES M'CURRAN IS MADE GRAND KNIGHT OF K. OF C. COUNCIL

James F. McCurran, Xenia, was elected grand knight of Xenia Council, No. 1801, Knights of Columbus at the annual election of officers held Tuesday night.

He succeeds Henry Walsh, grand knight for the last two years. William Baker, Yellow Springs, was elected deputy grand knight and other officers selected were: James Killen, chancellor; Joseph Hendrickson, recording secretary; Timothy Canning, treasurer; George Killen, advocate; Thomas Gilroy, warden; James Courder, inside guard; Michael Rachford, outside guard; J. E. Daly, trustee.

Under a new rule of the order the financial secretary is not elected but is appointed by a committee composed of the trustees, the grand knight and immediate past grand knight. This committee will select a financial secretary October 1, it is announced.

Refreshments were served at Tuesday night's meeting and members discussed plans for a Columbus Day program, October 12. A banquet is a tentative feature of the plans which will be worked out later.

WIFE ASKS COURT FOR SEPARATION; WHITE CASE NOLLED

He has a vicious temper, flies into fits of rage, attempts to strike her, is filthy in his habits and she is no longer able to endure him, Emma Shank alleges in a petition for divorce from Steven Shank. They were married August 25, 1925. She asks to be restored to her maiden name, Hampton and for alimony.

CASE IS NOLLED
Upon consent of the court a nolle prosequi was entered by prosecuting attorney J. C. Marshall Tuesday in the case of the State against Agnew White, colored, indicted for assault and battery.

DECREES GRANTED
Divorce decrees have been granted in the following cases: Mary Rebecca Montgomery from Marion A. Montgomery, on grounds of wilful absence. Plaintiff restored to her maiden name Mary Rebecca Ashbough.

Robert E. Richardson from Martha Richardson on grounds of wilful absence.
Marjorie Reed from Roscoe Reed on grounds of gross neglect of duty and cruelty. Plaintiff given custody of the child Barbara June.

CASE DISMISSED
Entries of dismissal have been approved in the following cases by Judge R. L. Gowdy: State vs. James Clark et al.; State vs. C. W. Jones et al.; State vs. Robert Kenny Jr.; State vs. Frank Leonard et al.

MADE GUARDIANS
Nellie Mason and H. O. Mason have been appointed guardians of Irene and Corone F. Mason. They furnished $1,000 bond.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

STEAL SLEUTH'S TIRE
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 7.—Thieves, apparently no respecter of the law, stole a tire from the automobile of city detective N. E. Folk, valued at $12. "Even a detective isn't safe any more" he sighed.

ADDRESS THURSDAY OPEN TO PUBLIC AND IS FREE OF CHARGE

James A. Edgerton, Washington, D. C., who will address an open meeting for Xenians at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Detroit and Second Sts. Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time, will speak at the N. C. R., Dayton, Wednesday evening, it is announced.

Mr. Edgerton, newspaper man, writer, author, government official and lecturer, was for fifteen years president of the International New Thought Alliance, resigning in February, 1924. His newspaper connections were with the Denver News, the New York American, the American Press Association and other organizations and he was later an official of the post-office department and during the war a member of the war industries board.

Mr. Edgerton was born in Plantville, Athens County, Ohio, in 1869 and was educated at Lebanon and Marietta. He is continuing his connection with the International New Thought Alliance as a member of the council, chairman of the plans committee and as lecturer.

His address here Thursday night will be free, there being no charges and no collections.

ELECTION BOARD APPROVES TICKETS FOR ELECTION DAY

Declarations of candidacy and petitions in other matters to come before the voters at the November election were approved by the Greene County Board of Elections Tuesday night.

The board certified back to the secretary of state the petition for repeal of the primary law which had been sent to the board for approval. The board also certified petitions filed by the Prohibition party for county offices and by the Socialist organization for state ticket.

The Socialist ticket which had been sent here from Cleveland, had only fifteen local signatures attached. It is not known whether that is a sufficient number of names to permit the petition to go on local ballots.

The only other work transacted by the board was approval of the petitions for non-partisan judges to go on the non-partisan judicial ballot, filed by Judge R. L. Gowdy, Attorney Frank H. Dean and George H. Thorne.

HOSPITAL HEAD TO ADDRESS W. C. T. U.

Dr. H. H. McClellan, of the Dayton State Hospital, will be the principal speaker on the afternoon program of the Greene County W. C. T. U. convention, September 17.

Full program details will be announced later. Place for the convention has not been decided.

KATYDIDS HERE SO FROST TO BE EARLY

LONDON, O., Sept. 8.—Basing their oracular contention on the appearance of katydids in Madison County, farmers today predicted frost within the next few weeks. "Katydids always mean frost within five or six weeks," the local prophets say.

No more unsightly
Pimples!
S.S.S. gives you a clear skin

WHAT a delightful sensation to look in your mirror and find your face free from pimples, blackheads, blotches and other skin blemishes. Isn't it wonderful to see your face radiant with red blooded health?

Pure, red blood is what it takes to have a lovely skin. Facial blemishes can't be covered up successfully. Nor will anything else drive away these unsightly pimples and such, but the cleansing of the blood and the adding of rich, red blood.

And that's what S. S. S. does. All those objectionable blemishes will vanish and your skin will become soft and clear. S. S. S. has been such an aid for generations.

Everybody is attracted to the girl with the soft, velvet, like skin—a skin so lovely that it tells of boundless health and vitality. There is no excuse for disgusting eruptions on the skin. We know they can be driven away quickly with a powerful blood alterative such as S. S. S. has proven to be for 100 years. Start taking S. S. S. today. And get the larger size bottle. It's more economical.
